'Can't Be Destroyed'

Soviet Premier Boasts Of New Russian Rocket

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev says the Soviet Union has a global rocket that can "hit a fly in outer space" and cannot be destroyed by "any antirocket means."

Khrushchev made the claim near the end of a 2½-hour interview with 13 American editors during which he also stressed that West Berlin is the crux of the East-West dispute and must be settled by getting Western troops out of the city. He set no new deadline for their exit.

"I am not boasting," Khrushchev told the editors in his Kremlin conference room, "but we actually have a global rocket which cannot be destroyed by any antirocket means, and I know, if anyone does, what antirocket means are, because we do have them."

"The high-altitude explosion carried out by the United States will in no way interfere with the action of our global rocket," he declared.

Khrushchev spent 37 minutes emphasizing the importance of the Berlin issue, accusing the Western powers of clinging to West Berlin as a military bridgehead.

"As long as the occupation forces of the U.S., Britain and France remain in West Berlin, they will play the role of an irritant which will raise the temperature in the relations between states," he declared.

If the Western troops depart, Khrushchev said, the Soviet Union is willing to join the Allies in a pledge of noninterference with West Berlin life, a guarantee to be "sealed with the seal of the United Nations."

He threatened anew to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany, a move the Russians claim would end Western rights in West Berlin.

"When shall we do it?" he asked. "We shall not hurry, but neither shall we tarry. I will not set any time limit."

Khrushchev repeated his demand that the Western powers agree to a peace treaty with all Germany and leave West Berlin a free, demilitarized city.

"If this question were settled," he said, "we would remove the main obstacle which stands in the way of relaxation of tension and sets us at loggerheads with the U.S., Britain and France."

The interview was released the same day the Soviet Union rejected a U.S.-British-French proposal that four power talks be called in Berlin to try to ease tension caused by shootings along the dividing wall.

The premier said the Soviet Union found it necessary to renew nuclear testing last fall because the "U.S. inflamed the atmosphere around West Berlin." He denied that the Soviet Union had broken the test moratorium, insisting the fall series was in reply to American tests that preceded the moratorium.

BULLETIN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam —Heavy clashes were reported today between Red guerrillas and a strong force of government troops airlifted into Communist - infested territory by 30 U.S. helicopters. Several of the helicopters reportedly were hit by Viet Cong ground fire, but there was no word of U.S. casualties. The operation was in an area about 40 miles northeast of Saigon.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Searchers have found the body of another American serviceman from a U.S. Army helicopter shot down by the Communists Sunday. This brought the toll to five Americans dead and four missing in three air crashes in two days.

The body, that of an enlisted man, was found about a mile from the wreckage of the helicopter, which plunged into the jungle near the Laotian border 280 miles northeast of Saigon. He apparently had walked the mile despite mortal wounds.

Maj. Robert F. Corneil, commander of the 8th U.S. Helicopter Squadron, and a second Vietnamese officer survived.

The Pentagon announced in Washington the Americans aboard the helicopter were Lt. Col. Anthony J. Tencza, Fairfax, Va.; Corneil, of Daleville, Ala.; Chief WO Joseph Goldberg, Sanford, N.C., Spec. 5 James E. Lane, Spring Lake. N.C., and Spec. 5 Harold L. Guthrie, Burlington, N.C.

Corneil, found Sunday night wandering in the jungle about five miles from the wreckage, suffered only bruises. The Vietnamese survivor had been wounded by Communist bullets.

It was Corneil's second injury as a result of Red gunfire. He was shot in the heel May 23 while flying a helicopter over the Mekong River delta.

Task Force Of 29 Used For Swoop

Pinball Machines, Whisky Obtained For Use In Court

A task force of 29 West Virginia State Police swept down on gaming and liquor law violations in Hancock County taverns Monday night.

Striking simultaneously at 10 spots, officers made 30 arrests for ciolations in well-timed raids at 15 taverns located outside municipalities in the county.

Headed by Lt. W. R. Seal of Co. A State Police headquarters in Shinnston, the raiding officers —27 uniformed troopers and two plainclothesmen — confiscated a number of console type pinball machines and a quantity of whisky.

The raid came off in secrecy, as two in the raiding party received cash payments over the counter in some taverns for winning games chalked up on the pinball devices.

State Police shunned help of county authorities in executing the raids on taverns outside the corporation limits of Chester, New Cumberland and Weirton. The office of County Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny did not participate, nor did county constables.

The raiding officers followed generally a pattern of stationing two policemen at each tavern in the net. The Weirton Detachment of State Police provided two officers, while the remainder came from the 17 counties under the jurisdiction of Co. A headquarters in Shinnston.

Many of those arrested pleaded guilty at hearings early this morning before Squire Thomas Bellanco of Weirton, paid fines ranging from $50 to $100, and were released.

But six persons pleaded innocent to various gaming and liquor charges and were bound over to the September term of the Hancock County Grand Jury after posting bonds.

Potters Plan Import Battle At Convention

As the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters launched its 68th annual convention Monday in San Francisco, E. L. Wheatley, president, declared the delegates will map a course of action to meet competition of "the flood of ceramics from low-wage nations."

Serving as a guest columnist for Victor Riesel, Arthur J. Goldberg, secretary of labor, today presents his views on the hotly - debated tariff issue in an article on Page 4.

Wheatley said the union will consider evidence to be presented July 24-25 at hearings before the Tariff Commission in Washington.

The union and two management organizations, the Fina China Guild and the U. S. Potters Association, are seeking a tariff adjustment.

Wheatley also said the union has entered into an agreement with several potteries to share the cost of a study aimed at bringing United States production to top efficiency, to meet in particular competition from Japan.

Wheatley said potters employed in the field of sanitary fixtures are not greatly imperilled by foreign imports because of transportation difficulties. But, he said, dinnerware, tile, and novelty ceramics workers are "continuously imperilled by low - wage foreign competition."

Macmillan's Under Fire In New Ousters

Foes, Some Friends Criticize Leader On Firing 9 More

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan came under fire from his political foes and some friends today for his drastic reshaping of Britain's Conservative government.

Other supporters concluded that the major surgery had been necessary because of the obvious public dissatisfaction expressed in recent interim elections.

Nine more ministers, four with Cabinet rank, were fired Monday, bringing the total of top-rank dismissals since Friday to 16. Most of their replacements were younger men from the legislative rank and file.

"The prime minister has done himself enormous harm by this," said a Conservative peer, Lord Lambton, on a television program Monday night. "If you get rid of your closest lieutenants, there must be something wrong with the leadership."

The Daily Mail saluted Macmillan for a high degree of political courage. It conceded the ruling party had been "shaken to the core," but said "the rot had gone deep and called for major surgery." It warned Macmillan the British people will be impatient for results.

From his political foes there were expectable demands that Macmillan himself should be the next to go.

Churchill's Progress Reported Satisfactory

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill had a good night's rest, Middlesex Hospital sources said today.

A medical bulletin Monday said his progress of recovery was satisfactory and he was allowed up from bed to spend some time in a chair. No further bulletin is to be issued until Friday unless there is an important change in his condition.

City Will Seek New Bids For Blacktop Job

Acting at the suggestion of Council, the Board of Control is scheduled to reject today the lone bid received Friday on a low cost surfacing program for unimproved streets.

Queried Monday night by Safety-Service Director Robert Owen in a caucus session, the councilmen recommended that the bid be rejected and new offers be sought with the hope of attracting more prospective contractors.

The lone bid of 38½ cents a square yard for treating 20,000 square yards of unsurfaced streets was received from the Tri-State Asphalt Corp. Council and the administration had discussed the program repeatedly with a representative of the Ohio Tar & Asphalt Corp. of Canton, but the Stark County firm did not bid.

Owen said he will issue a new legal advertisement, expecting to open bids about Aug. 3.

"We would like to see more bids," Councilman S. James Welch said. Councilman George E. Willshaw, finance committee chairman, also said he feels the city should attempt to attract more than one offer.

Councilman Edward Massey said he talked with a representa-

Board Clears School Funds Of $2 Million

Next Year's Budget Hits Record High, Up By $136,882

Surpassing the $2 million mark for the first time, a 1963 budget providing for $2,065,702, an increase of $103,442 over the present budget, was adopted Monday night by the Board of Education.

The budget for next year provides for $1,764,061 in operating expenses, an increase of $92,209 over the 1962 budget and $136,882 over the amount appropriated in April for this year.

However, the actual amount the board will receive will be determined after the County Budget Commission at Lisbon examines the figures.

Here's a breakdown of the budget with the amount in parentheses indicating the appropriations made for this year:

Salaries, $1,519,809 ($1,382,495); supplies $96,350 ($87,226); maintenance materials $6,950 ($6,550); equipment replacements $11,200 ($11,200); contract and open order service $103,800 ($101,530); fixed charges $7,552 ($7,552); capital outlay $18,400 ($32,725). Total general fund $1,764,061 ($1,637,279).

Test For Kennedy

Senate Vote Due On Medical Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Battle forces were closely drawn for a Senate vote today on whether to kill the administration's compromise health care plan for the elderly. Both sides cautiously predicted victory.

The outcome could be crucial to the future of President Kennedy's legislative program.

If Kennedy wins this test, his lieutenants will benefit by the psychology of that victory in their efforts to rally support for other major segments of his program.

A Senate defeat, stacked on top of House rebuffs on other issues, could put the administration to rout.

Rear guard action probably could save the President's House-passed trade program and salvage some other measures of lesser importance.

But rejection of the health program would be certain to whet the opposition knives for any aid to education legislation, for any farm bill satisfactory to the administration and for its tax revision measure.

A scheduled midafternoon vote on a motion to kill the health plan amendment to a House-passed bill to revise the public assistance program appeared likely to turn on the point of which side has the fewer absentees.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he believes there is a majority for the motion to kill. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Democratic leader, predicted the administration would win by two votes "if we can get all of our members here."

Whatever the result of today's voting, the administration's compromise plan—which would finance hospital and nursing home care for the elderly through Social Security taxes — faces a doubtful future in Congress.

A Senate defeat would bury it for this session. A Senate victory would keep alive the administration's hopes of getting some kind of vote on the proposal in a House that has not shown itself disposed to act on the issue.

The compromise would provide hospitalization for persons over 65 but would not pay any doctors' fees. A private insurance option feature is provided under which the beneficiary could elect to take his benefits through a private policy.

Soblen Tells High Court

Knifed Myself To Reach British Soil, Spy Says

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Robert Soblen told the British high court today he knifed himself aboard a New York-bound airliner for the sole purpose of reaching British soil—and British justice.

In an affidavit supporting his fight against removal to America to face a life sentence as a Soviet spy, Soblen said he had no intention of committing suicide.

"The wound I inflicted on my wrist was longitudinal," he said. "Had I inflicted a circular wound across my wrist, I would have bled to death.

"Similarly, the cut in the abdomen ripped through the skin and belly muscles, but did not penetrate into the abdomen itself."

Soblen said he jumped his $100,000-bail and fled to Israel last month "because I was convinced of my own innocence of the counts against me, and because I felt that justice had not been done to me in the American courts."

"I further hoped that if I were able to enjoy my freedom a little longer, my innocence might be established."

Soblen was brought before the three-judge panel from Brixton Prison on a writ of habeas corpus seeking his release from the custody of the British Home Office. The British government claims he is a deportable alien in the country illegally.

If the court rules in the 62-year-

All three members present — C. Walter Ashbaugh, president; James Lowe, vice president, and Mrs. Nessie Dunlop expressed commendation for the work being done by the administrators, Harry D. McConville and James Moss, the other members of the board, are on vacation.

Ashbaugh commented: "I believe the school system is being recognized as a good one. The only way we can continue is with strong executive personnel. All have done an excellent job.

Lowe said: "I agree 100 per cent" and Mrs. Dunlop praised the dedication to their careers of the six and said she was glad to see the standards being raised.

Rusk To Seek Berlin Clue In New Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk hopes to gain a clue from Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko this weekend on whether the Russians intend to stir up further trouble over Berlin.

Rusk plans to leave at midnight Thursday for Geneva, where he has allotted approximately four working days for talks with Gromyko and other foreign ministers and for the signing of the 14-nation agreement on Laos.

This will mark a new chapter in the lengthy and so far inconclusive talks on stands that have remained unchanged: Soviet Premier Khrushchev's demands that Western forces get out of West Berlin, and the Western determination to keep them there.

Since he last met Gromyko in Geneva in March, Rusk has held a half dozen talks on Berlin here with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin, with neither side budging.

Metal Boxes Planned For Meter Fines

A new system to make it more convenient for motorists to pay overtime parking violations by dropping an envelope into metal collection boxes in each block is scheduled to go into operation Monday, Safety-Service Director Robert Owen said today.

Installation of 40 collection boxes was started today and a new type of parking ticket, which includes an envelope, will be issued starting Monday, the director said.

He explained he anticipates the new system will be in effect at the same time metered parking gets under way at the new municipal lot on the site of the former Ceramic Theater on E. 4th St. However, the 40 meters still haven't arrived from the M. H. Rhodes Co. of Hartford, Conn., he added.

The new collection system and tickets are being put into use on a 90-day trial basis at no cost to the city, the director said.

Under the new system, a motorist ticketed for overtime parking can place $1 in the envelope attached to the ticket and drop it into the collection box located in about the center of each metered block, the director said.

It will eliminate the problem of

'Can't Be Destroyed'

Soviet Premier Boasts Of New Russian Rocket

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev says the Soviet Union has a global rocket that can "hit a fly in outer space" and cannot be destroyed by "any antirocket means."

Khrushchev made the claim near the end of a 2½-hour interview with 13 American editors during which he also stressed that West Berlin is the crux of the East-West dispute and must be settled by getting Western troops out of the city. He set no new deadline for their exit.

"I am not boasting," Khrushchev told the editors in his Kremlin conference room, "but we actually have a global rocket which cannot be destroyed by any antirocket means, and I know, if anyone does, what antirocket means are, because we do have them."

"The high-altitude explosion carried out by the United States will in no way interfere with the action of our global rocket," he declared.

Khrushchev spent 37 minutes emphasizing the importance of the Berlin issue, accusing the Western powers of clinging to West Berlin as a military bridgehead.

"As long as the occupation forces of the U.S., Britain and France remain in West Berlin, they will play the role of an irritant which will raise the temperature in the relations between states," he declared.

If the Western troops depart, Khrushchev said, the Soviet Union is willing to join the Allies in a pledge of noninterference with West Berlin life, a guarantee to be "sealed with the seal of the United Nations."

He threatened anew to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany, a move the Russians claim would end Western rights in West Berlin.

"When shall we do it?" he asked. "We shall not hurry, but neither shall we tarry. I will not set any time limit."

Khrushchev repeated his demand that the Western powers agree to a peace treaty with all Germany and leave West Berlin a free, demilitarized city.

"If this question were settled," he said, "we would remove the main obstacle which stands in the way of relaxation of tension and sets us at loggerheads with the U.S., Britain and France."

The interview was released the same day the Soviet Union rejected a U.S.-British-French proposal that four power talks be called in Berlin to try to ease tension caused by shootings along the dividing wall.

The premier said the Soviet Union found it necessary to renew nuclear testing last fall because the "U.S. inflamed the atmosphere around West Berlin." He denied that the Soviet Union had broken the test moratorium, insisting the fall series was in reply to American tests that preceded the moratorium.

Board Clears School Funds Of $2 Million

Next Year's Budget Hits Record High, Up By $136,882

Surpassing the $2 million mark for the first time, a 1963 budget providing for $2,065,702, an increase of $103,442 over the present budget, was adopted Monday night by the Board of Education.

Test For Kennedy

Senate Vote Due On Medical Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Battle forces were closely drawn for a Senate vote today on whether to kill the administration's compromise health care plan for the elderly. Both sides cautiously predicted victory.

The outcome could be crucial to the future of President Kennedy's legislative program.

If Kennedy wins this test, his lieutenants will benefit by the psychology of that victory in their efforts to rally support for other major segments of his program.

A Senate defeat, stacked on top of House rebuffs on other issues, could put the administration to rout.

Rear guard action probably could save the President's House-passed trade program and salvage some other measures of lesser importance.

But rejection of the health program would be certain to whet the opposition knives for any aid to education legislation, for any farm bill satisfactory to the administration and for its tax revision measure.

A scheduled midafternoon vote on a motion to kill the health plan amendment to a House-passed bill to revise the public assistance program appeared likely to turn on the point of which side has the fewer absentees.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he believes there is a majority for the motion to kill. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Democratic leader, predicted the administration would win by two votes "if we can get all of our members here."

Whatever the result of today's voting, the administration's compromise plan—which would finance hospital and nursing home care for the elderly through Social Security taxes — faces a doubtful future in Congress.

A Senate defeat would bury it for this session. A Senate victory would keep alive the administration's hopes of getting some kind of vote on the proposal in a House that has not shown itself disposed to act on the issue.

The compromise would provide hospitalization for persons over 65 but would not pay any doctors' fees. A private insurance option feature is provided under which the beneficiary could elect to take his benefits through a private policy.

School Board Gives Hike To 6 Executives

New Contracts Due For Administrators Starting On Aug. 1

New two - year contracts providing salary increases totaling $2,000 the first year and $1,800 for the second year were granted six school administrators Monday night by the Board of Education.

The new contracts will be in effect from Aug. 1 until July 31, 1964.

Administrators receiving the new contracts along with the present salaries, rates starting Aug. 1, and the salaries as of Aug. 1, 1963 were:

Paul Blair, assistant superintendent, $9,700 now, $10,100 on Aug. 1, and $10,500 starting Aug. 1, 1963; George Hargraves, high school principal, $9,200, $9,600 and $9,900; Tom Dixon, Westgate principal, $8,500, $8,900 and $9,200; Clarence Means, East Junior principal, $7,400 $7,700 and $8,000.

Carl Pelini, assistant junior high principal at Westgate, $7,000, $7,300 and $7,600, and Miss Mildred McGregor, $7,300 $7,500 and $7,700.

All three members present — C. Walter Ashbaugh, president; James Lowe, vice president, and Mrs. Nessie Dunlop expressed commendation for the work being done by the administrators, Harry D. McConville and James Moss, the other members of the board, are on vacation.

Ashbaugh commented: "I believe the school system is being recognized as a good one. The only way we can continue is with strong executive personnel. All have done an excellent job.

Lowe said: "I agree 100 per cent" and Mrs. Dunlop praised the dedication to their careers of the six and said she was glad to see the standards being raised.

Soblen Tells High Court

Knifed Myself To Reach British Soil, Spy Says

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Robert Soblen told the British high court today he knifed himself aboard a New York-bound airliner for the sole purpose of reaching British soil—and British justice.

In an affidavit supporting his fight against removal to America to face a life sentence as a Soviet spy, Soblen said he had no intention of committing suicide.

"The wound I inflicted on my wrist was longitudinal," he said. "Had I inflicted a circular wound across my wrist, I would have bled to death.

"Similarly, the cut in the abdomen ripped through the skin and belly muscles, but did not penetrate into the abdomen itself."

Soblen said he jumped his $100,000-bail and fled to Israel last month "because I was convinced of my own innocence of the counts against me, and because I felt that justice had not been done to me in the American courts."

"I further hoped that if I were able to enjoy my freedom a little longer, my innocence might be established."

Soblen was brought before the three-judge panel from Brixton Prison on a writ of habeas corpus seeking his release from the custody of the British Home Office. The British government claims he is a deportable alien in the country illegally.

If the court rules in the 62-year-

Rusk To Seek Berlin Clue In New Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk hopes to gain a clue from Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko this weekend on whether the Russians intend to stir up further trouble over Berlin.

Rusk plans to leave at midnight Thursday for Geneva, where he has allotted approximately four working days for talks with Gromyko and other foreign ministers and for the signing of the 14-nation agreement on Laos.

This will mark a new chapter in the lengthy and so far inconclusive talks on stands that have remained unchanged: Soviet Premier Khrushchev's demands that Western forces get out of West Berlin, and the Western determination to keep them there.

Since he last met Gromyko in Geneva in March, Rusk has held a half dozen talks on Berlin here with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin, with neither side budging.

City Will Seek New Bids For Blacktop Job

Acting at the suggestion of Council, the Board of Control is scheduled to reject today the lone bid received Friday on a low cost surfacing program for unimproved streets.

Queried Monday night by Safety-Service Director Robert Owen in a caucus session, the councilmen recommended that the bid be rejected and new offers be sought with the hope of attracting more prospective contractors.

The lone bid of 38½ cents a square yard for treating 20,000 square yards of unsurfaced streets was received from the Tri-State Asphalt Corp. Council and the administration had discussed the program repeatedly with a representative of the Ohio Tar & Asphalt Corp. of Canton, but the Stark County firm did not bid.

Owen said he will issue a new legal advertisement, expecting to open bids about Aug. 3.

"We would like to see more bids," Councilman S. James Welch said. Councilman George E. Willshaw, finance committee chairman, also said he feels the city should attempt to attract more than one offer.

Councilman Edward Massey said he talked with a representa-

Metal Boxes Planned For Meter Fines

A new system to make it more convenient for motorists to pay overtime parking violations by dropping an envelope into metal collection boxes in each block is scheduled to go into operation Monday, Safety-Service Director Robert Owen said today.

Installation of 40 collection boxes was started today and a new type of parking ticket, which includes an envelope, will be issued starting Monday, the director said.

He explained he anticipates the new system will be in effect at the same time metered parking gets under way at the new municipal lot on the site of the former Ceramic Theater on E. 4th St. However, the 40 meters still haven't arrived from the M. H. Rhodes Co. of Hartford, Conn., he added.

The new collection system and tickets are being put into use on a 90-day trial basis at no cost to the city, the director said.

Under the new system, a motorist ticketed for overtime parking can place $1 in the envelope attached to the ticket and drop it into the collection box located in about the center of each metered block, the director said.

It will eliminate the problem of

In Southeastern Ohio Campaign

DiSalle, Blasting GOP, Opens Re-Election Drive

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Blasting Republicans along the way, Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle headed his re-election campaign caravan deeper into Southeastern Ohio today.

Appearances in McArthur, Jackson, Pomeroy, Gallipolis and Ironton will be climaxed with a television broadcast tonight from Huntington, W. Va., to wind up the first two days of a statewide drive during the coming weeks.

DiSalle chose the home county of Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, Monday night to accuse GOP legislative leaders of voting for appropriations but voting against revenues to finance them.

The address to 300 Democratic followers meeting in Ohio University capped earlier appearances Monday in Lancaster, New Lexington and Logan.

DiSalle said he liked Mechem personally but asserted that "Stanley just isn't with the problems of today."

"If Rip Van Winkle could have slept through the ages, he might not have been awakened to men bowling on the green but to new satellites and missiles orbiting the earth.

"I think this is where Sen. Rip Van Mechem stands today," DiSalle observed as laughter filled the hall.

"Stanley was never bashful in voting for appropriations, probably more than anyone in Ohio except House Speaker Roger Cloud, but Mechem doesn't want to raise the funds for these appropriations. He didn't vote one dime for taxation for the appropriations he voted for."

The governor cited what he termed inconsistency between Cloud, R-Logan, and Mechem over funds for the Training Institute of Central Ohio, a facility in Columbus for unruly inmates of Lancaster Boys Industrial School.

The governor quoted Mechem as saying money was over - appropriated for the institute only to have Cloud on the following day call for Controlling Board release of any extra $270,000.

Cloud proposed use of the money from a $4.5 million in unspent mental hygiene funds last year to complete staffing the institute, only half used since the opening last year.

DiSalle recalled that the institute was planned during a previous legislature in which Mechem was Senate majority leader.

"All this was planned and appropriated before I even took office," DiSalle said.

The governor warned that full-time college enrollment may hit 338,737 in 1970, compared with today's total of 115,000 in state and private schools.

"In short," he said, "we aren't doing enough in the higher education field, and it could be more deficient than most of us imagine .... Some Republican legislators have sounded off quite proudly about their appropriations to state universities, but they fail to inform the people that a big slice of that appropriated money comes from the fees the students, themselves, pay."

He blamed the last legislature for failure to appropriate enough money to prevent an increase in student fees at state universities for the next term. For example, the increase at Ohio State will be from $300 to $330 annually, he said.

William A. Lavelle, Athens County Democratic chairman, presided at the dinner here. Those at the speaker's table included Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, who opposed DiSalle unsuccessfully in the May primary election.

McElroy took the occasion to say he has pledged support to DiSalle and the entire Democratic ticket for the Nov. 6 general election.

State Treasurer Joseph Ferguson, appearing for his son, Thomas, who seeks to succeed his father, touted McElroy as mayor of Cleveland before very long.

McElroy turned aside questions from newsmen but said that, as a former three-term Cleveland councilman, "I am naturally interested in the city of Cleveland."

Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze is expected to resign soon to accept appointment as secretary of health, education and welfare in Washington.

Dr. Vernon Alden, Ohio University's new president, predicted that the next decade would be the most challenging man has ever faced. He described universities as the magnets for growth of the state through higher education.

Springfield Municipal Court Judge Richard T. Cole joined the caravan in Lancaster. He is the nominee for the state Supreme Court term starting Jan. 2. Introduced at Athens was Common Pleas Court Judge James J. Mayer of Mansfield, nominee for the Jan. 1 term on the Supreme Court.

DiSalle said he was highly pleased over the turnout at stops along the way. Compared with only a handful in the 1958 campaign, an estimated 300 turned out for a talk from the Perry County Courthouse steps in New Lexington and 250 for a speech in Logan's Worthington Park.

About 100 attended a luncheon meeting in Lancaster, first stop for the four-car caravan after leaving Columbus.

3 Appraisers Face Quiz In Roads Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional questioners sought from three appraisers today an explanation of the high valuations they placed on land taken for a Beckley, W. Va. highway project.

The three, summoned by the House Highway Investigating Committee, are James Barth, Calvert Estill and Aubrey Halstead. They appraised more than 35 parcels of land needed to widen Beckley's South Oakwood Avenue for four-lane traffic.

Testimony previously given the committee, checking into irregularities in the nation's highway programs, showed that the payments made for the land taken in Beckley were far above original appraisals.

Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex. acting chairman of the committee, said that if the practices followed in obtaining rights-of-way in Beckley were followed throughout the inter-state network, the total excess cost could well go into billions of dollars.

Wright said the procedures followed were incredibly lax and it "almost staggers the imagination" to contemplate how costly it would be to taxpayers in the various states if methods used in Beckley were followed elsewhere.

The committee yesterday placed in the record details of the land taken on South Oakwood Avenue, including the appraisals made by Barth, Estill and Halstead, the amount of final settlement and the retrospective appraisal made by Frank K. Wall, chief appraiser for the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

In one of these, a strip of land totaling 145 square feet in front of the property of Mae and Sam Thios, the owners were finally paid $12,750. Wall appraised the damages at $450, showing the owners received an increase in the award over his estimate of 2,588 per cent.

In this case, Estill originally appraised the land to be taken at $691 and Barth set it at $590. Later, Barth appraised it at $8,791. Halstead made an initial appraisal of $16,000 and later reduced it to $11,608, while Estill on his final appraisal set the figure at $6,781. It was then settled for $12,750.

2 Killed, 5 Hurt In West Virginia Mine Explosion

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (AP) — An explosion at the Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates mine at Grant Town Monday resulted in the death of two men and injury to five others, one seriously.

The victims — Gay Ice, 44, of White Hall, near here, and Robert Jones, about 32, of Farmington — were standing on a concrete mine seal when the explosion upeneded the 75-ton slab and sent them plunging 275 feet down an abandoned mine shaft.

Police said there was a possibility that sparks from a cutting torch may have ignited gas seeping from the mine seal.

The men were members of a 12-man crew employed by Interstate Engineers and Constructors, Inc. which was dismantling a coal cleaning plant at the mine.

The injured men were: William Zirkle, 31, of Shinnston; Arley Spry of Lumberport; William Ice, 20, a son of the dead man; James Hinerman, 36, of Monongah and Junior Green, 31, of Grant Town.

All but Hinerman and Green were patients in Fairmont General Hospital, with Spry the most seriously hurt. Hinerman and Green were treated for minor injuries and discharged.

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP)—An elderly Florida couple was injured fatally Monday in a fiery crash inside the Laurel Hill tunnel on the Pennsylvania Turnpike about 10 miles west of here.

Thirty-eight other persons occupying cars in the tunnel at the time were sent to Somerset Community Hospital, most of them with smoke inhalation. A hospital spokesman said none of the 26 detained was in serious condition.

State police quoted witnesses that an auto driven by Mrs. Maud Brunsvold, 75, of Tampa hit the right wall of the tunnel and veered into the oncoming truck's path. The wreckage caught fire and filled the tunnel with smoke.

Mrs. Brunsvold's husband, Elmer J., 78, was dead on arrival at Frick Memorial Hospital in Mount Pleasant. Mrs. Brunsvold died there a half hour later.

Somerset Fire Chief Newton Picking said 25 cars were towed from the tunnel's east portal and state police said an undetermined number were pulled from the west portal.

The tunnel was closed for about 3½ hours.

2 Killed, 5 Hurt In West Virginia Mine Explosion

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (AP) — An explosion at the Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates mine at Grant Town Monday resulted in the death of two men and injury to five others, one seriously.

The victims — Gay Ice, 44, of White Hall, near here, and Robert Jones, about 32, of Farmington — were standing on a concrete mine seal when the explosion upeneded the 75-ton slab and sent them plunging 275 feet down an abandoned mine shaft.

Police said there was a possibility that sparks from a cutting torch may have ignited gas seeping from the mine seal.

The men were members of a 12-man crew employed by Interstate Engineers and Constructors, Inc. which was dismantling a coal cleaning plant at the mine.

The injured men were: William Zirkle, 31, of Shinnston; Arley Spry of Lumberport; William Ice, 20, a son of the dead man; James Hinerman, 36, of Monongah and Junior Green, 31, of Grant Town.

All but Hinerman and Green were patients in Fairmont General Hospital, with Spry the most seriously hurt. Hinerman and Green were treated for minor injuries and discharged.

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP)—An elderly Florida couple was injured fatally Monday in a fiery crash inside the Laurel Hill tunnel on the Pennsylvania Turnpike about 10 miles west of here.

Thirty-eight other persons occupying cars in the tunnel at the time were sent to Somerset Community Hospital, most of them with smoke inhalation. A hospital spokesman said none of the 26 detained was in serious condition.

State police quoted witnesses that an auto driven by Mrs. Maud Brunsvold, 75, of Tampa hit the right wall of the tunnel and veered into the oncoming truck's path. The wreckage caught fire and filled the tunnel with smoke.

Mrs. Brunsvold's husband, Elmer J., 78, was dead on arrival at Frick Memorial Hospital in Mount Pleasant. Mrs. Brunsvold died there a half hour later.

Somerset Fire Chief Newton Picking said 25 cars were towed from the tunnel's east portal and state police said an undetermined number were pulled from the west portal.

The tunnel was closed for about 3½ hours.

Gabriel Ludmann, Once Hungarian Knight, Dies

Gabriel von Hadusfalvi Ludmann of Fredericktown, once a knight and a cavalry colonel in his native Hungary who fled to the United States in 1951, died at 12:40 a.m. today at City Hospital, where he had been admitted about a half hour earlier.

Mr. Ludmann, who was to have received his American citizenship Thursday, was the son of the late Gen. Julius von Ludmann Hadusfalvi and Sophia Kapetanowich de Hadusfalvi. He was 69.

A colonel in the Hungarian Kings Cavalry, he was highly decorated in World War I and later was the Secret Watcher and Protector of the Hungarian Holy Kings Crown. He was a captain of the body guard of the last president of Hungary, Adm. Nicolaus von Horthy, and was a Knight of St. Johannes Order.

He was an instructor in the 1st Hungarian Cavalry Regiment, commandant of the Calvary Mounted Police Unit and was decorated with the Hungarian Cross of Honor with Golden Stripes.

In World War II, he was quartermaster of the Hungarian Army. He and his family lived in Austria for eight years before coming to America.

He was a member of the Lutheran Church.

Mr. Ludmann and his family had made their home in a modest cottage at Fredericktown since coming to this country under the sponsorship of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church. A professional army officer with no civilian trade, he first worked as a horse-trainer at Beaverkettle Farms and later took a position as a pottery kilndrawer.

After harrowing days when the Russians moved into Hungary in 1944, the Ludmanns fled their native land. They finally were admitted to the U.S. under the displaced persons quota.

The Ludmanns fled first to Bavaria and later to Austria. Mr. Ludmann kept his family flag and his cavalry officer's saber displayed prominently in his Fredericktown home.

"Hungary will rise again," he often said.

Survivors include his widow, Yolanda von Bajan de Bajanhazi von Ludmann; a son, Gabriel von Ludmann at home, and a daughter, Miss Gabriella von Ludmann, also at home.

$593,688 Budget Approved By Southern Local's Board

A budget of $593,688 for Southern Local School District — up about $50,000 from 1962 because of planned operation of the new high school — was approved by the Board of Education at a meeting Monday night at Highlandtown School.

The new budget includes provision for the recently granted teacher salary increases along with expenses in connection with the planned use of the new high school building now under construction east of Salineville.

A resolution was adopted to provide no tuition fees for freshmen students in the district to attend high schools elsewhere for the 1962-63 term.

The board also approved any applications for high school students to transfer to Salineville High School.

The student insurance policies of the Consolidated Mutual Co. were approved for the new term and $1,200 was alloted for improvement of the athletic field at the new high school.

A resolution was approved to oppose any change of boundaries of the district and another was passed to prohibit use of school facilities for private social functions.

Hired as teachers were Mrs. Joanne Felton of Salineville, as an elementary teacher at Salineville, and Mrs. Sondra Temple of Salineville as a teacher at Wayne School.

An offer by the Continental Baking Co. of Wheeling was accepted for supply of bread for the term. The firm quoted prices of 18 cents for sandwich bread and 20½ cents a dozen for buns.

"They said they didn't receive a notice of the bid-opening, but they agreed it wasn't the city's responsibility to notify them," Massey said.

The city is scheduled to pay 50 per cent of the cost of the program, with property - owners paying the other half. Council already has appropriated $4,000 for the city's share.

Under Tri-State's bid, the property - owners' share would have been a little over 19 cents per lineal front foot.

ments $120 ($2,213); night schools $120 ($500); Title III federal funds $5,019 ($8,000); workbooks $9,000 ($9,600) and repairs and maintenance $47,717 ($47,717). Total all funds $2,065,702 ($1,943,224).

Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk-treasurer, reported a balance of $27,931 in school funds, including only $5,561 in the general fund.

However, checks already have been written for salaries for teachers, who will be paid Friday, and for janitors, she explained.

Miss Liebschner said she also has conferred with County Auditor Kenneth Bell and said she was told an advance on real estate taxes will be paid by Aug. 10. The advance settlement should be sufficient to avoid borrowing funds to meet next month's payroll, she indicated.

when the board granted flat $100 boosts for all teachers and corresponding increases for non-certificated personnel.

In response to a question from Lowe, Betts explained he was granted a new three-year contract last year and his salary already is established for the first two years. However, the salary for the third year starting in 1963 must be established. He now receives $11,300.

Man Escapes Unhurt In Lisbon Area Crash

A Lisbon area man escaped injury Monday afternoon when his car was rammed from the rear at the intersection of Depot and Pidgeon Rds. south of Salem, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Charles Liggitt, 49, of Lisbon R.D. 4 had halted for a stop sign at the intersection when his auto was struck from the rear by one operated by Lila Harris, 42, of Salem R.D. 3. The latter driver was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

The mishap, which occurred at 3:10 p. m., caused moderate damage to the autos, officers reported.

Youth's License Suspended For Passing Traffic Check

An 18-year-old North Side youth had his license suspended for 15 days today in Municipal Court on a State Highway Patrol charge that he passed a series of autos halted for a traffic check and then had to be pursued before finally being stopped.

Joseph D. Howell, 911 Princeton Ave., formerly of Glenmoor, pleaded guilty to the reckless driving count and was ordered to pay the costs in addition to surrendering his license.

Patrolman D. E. Johnston told Judge Samuel M. Chertoff he was conducting the traffic check Friday afternoon on the Y. & O. Rd. near the intersection with Annesley Rd. and four cars were stopped in the southbound lane. Three others were pulled off onto the berm.

The officer said Howell came around a curve north of the intersection at a high rate of speed. He didn't slow down but cut out and passed traffic over a visible yellow line and went through the intersection, the officer said.

Patrolman Johnson said he yelled at the defendant and the car's brake lights came on but Howell kept going. The officer gave chase and finally halted Howell on Route 30 near Substation Rd., he told Judge Chertoff.

The youth told him he was hurrying to the hospital to see his aunt, the patrolman said.

Howell told Judge Chertoff he is home on sick leave form the Air Force and is due to return early next month.

Emil Carl Hasenstag, 2037 Lisbon St., was fined $5 and costs by Judge Chertoff on a charge of crashing a traffic light at W. 4th and Jefferson Sts. late Monday night. Judge Chertoff suspended the fine on payment of costs.

Negroes Study Nonviolent Integration Path In Georgia

Daily workshops in nonviolent protests were scheduled by Negro leaders. Albany's police force, backed by a unit of state troopers, was held on a continuing alert.

King's statement came after Mayor Asa D. Kelley Jr., on behalf of the city commission, refused to give the Negro leaders an audience. The Negroes had requested a meeting with the commission in an effort to solve long-standing racial issues.

The mayor called the Negro leaders lawbreakers and said the commission would not negotiate with them.

Later King addressed about 2,000 persons at two Negro churches.

Without indicating what form any new demonstrations might take, King said: "We are preparing ourselves spiritually, mentally and physically."

National League umpire Augie Donatelli served as a B-17 tail gunner in World War II. With the U. S. Air Force he flew 18 missions over Europe before his bomber was shot down. He served 15 months as a German prisoner of war.

motorists having to walk or drive to City Hall. There's only limited parking near City Hall and several motorists have been ticketed while settling a ticket issued earlier.

Other motorists have complained that unable to find a nearby parking space they forgot about the tickets. Then they had to pay $2 penalty after the lapse of 24 hours, they said.

The collection boxes are vandal-proof, the director said, and money deposited will be collected daily. No money will be left in the boxes overnight, he emphasized.

The director recalled a similar system was tried several years ago but was discontinued because the penalty was only 25 cents. Many drivers gambled against being ticketed but if a ticket was issued they could drop the coin in the collection box, he said.

"They said they didn't receive a notice of the bid-opening, but they agreed it wasn't the city's responsibility to notify them," Massey said.

The city is scheduled to pay 50 per cent of the cost of the program, with property - owners paying the other half. Council already has appropriated $4,000 for the city's share.

Under Tri-State's bid, the property - owners' share would have been a little over 19 cents per lineal front foot.

Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk-treasurer, reported a balance of $27,931 in school funds, including only $5,561 in the general fund.

However, checks already have been written for salaries for teachers, who will be paid Friday, and for janitors, she explained.

Miss Liebschner said she also has conferred with County Auditor Kenneth Bell and said she was told an advance on real estate taxes will be paid by Aug. 10. The advance settlement should be sufficient to avoid borrowing funds to meet next month's payroll, she indicated.

In response to a question from Lowe, Betts explained he was granted a new three-year contract last year and his salary already is established for the first two years. However, the salary for the third year starting in 1963 must be established. He now receives $11,300.

Man Escapes Unhurt In Lisbon Area Crash

A Lisbon area man escaped injury Monday afternoon when his car was rammed from the rear at the intersection of Depot and Pidgeon Rds. south of Salem, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Charles Liggitt, 49, of Lisbon R.D. 4 had halted for a stop sign at the intersection when his auto was struck from the rear by one operated by Lila Harris, 42, of Salem R.D. 3. The latter driver was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

The mishap, which occurred at 3:10 p. m., caused moderate damage to the autos, officers reported.

Youth's License Suspended For Passing Traffic Check

An 18-year-old North Side youth had his license suspended for 15 days today in Municipal Court on a State Highway Patrol charge that he passed a series of autos halted for a traffic check and then had to be pursued before finally being stopped.

Joseph D. Howell, 911 Princeton Ave., formerly of Glenmoor, pleaded guilty to the reckless driving count and was ordered to pay the costs in addition to surrendering his license.

Patrolman D. E. Johnston told Judge Samuel M. Chertoff he was conducting the traffic check Friday afternoon on the Y. & O. Rd. near the intersection with Annesley Rd. and four cars were stopped in the southbound lane. Three others were pulled off onto the berm.

The officer said Howell came around a curve north of the intersection at a high rate of speed. He didn't slow down but cut out and passed traffic over a visible yellow line and went through the intersection, the officer said.

Patrolman Johnson said he yelled at the defendant and the car's brake lights came on but Howell kept going. The officer gave chase and finally halted Howell on Route 30 near Substation Rd., he told Judge Chertoff.

The youth told him he was hurrying to the hospital to see his aunt, the patrolman said.

Howell told Judge Chertoff he is home on sick leave form the Air Force and is due to return early next month.

Emil Carl Hasenstag, 2037 Lisbon St., was fined $5 and costs by Judge Chertoff on a charge of crashing a traffic light at W. 4th and Jefferson Sts. late Monday night. Judge Chertoff suspended the fine on payment of costs.

Negroes Study Nonviolent Integration Path In Georgia

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — Negroes studied nonviolent integration techniques today in the wake of repeated hints of more demonstrations in this troubled southwest Georgia city.

Daily workshops in nonviolent protests were scheduled by Negro leaders. Albany's police force, backed by a unit of state troopers, was held on a continuing alert.

King's statement came after Mayor Asa D. Kelley Jr., on behalf of the city commission, refused to give the Negro leaders an audience. The Negroes had requested a meeting with the commission in an effort to solve long-standing racial issues.

The mayor called the Negro leaders lawbreakers and said the commission would not negotiate with them.

Without indicating what form any new demonstrations might take, King said: "We are preparing ourselves spiritually, mentally and physically."

motorists having to walk or drive to City Hall. There's only limited parking near City Hall and several motorists have been ticketed while settling a ticket issued earlier.

Other motorists have complained that unable to find a nearby parking space they forgot about the tickets. Then they had to pay $2 penalty after the lapse of 24 hours, they said.

The collection boxes are vandal-proof, the director said, and money deposited will be collected daily. No money will be left in the boxes overnight, he emphasized.

The director recalled a similar system was tried several years ago but was discontinued because the penalty was only 25 cents. Many drivers gambled against being ticketed but if a ticket was issued they could drop the coin in the collection box, he said.

Mayor Celebrezze To Washington

When a man wins five terms as mayor of Cleveland and sets a new record for holding on to his city's top office, he must have been doing something right.

Anthony J. Celebrezze was tapped as the successor to Abraham A. Ribicoff as secretary of health, welfare and education because he had been doing something right. It is important that he belongs the the Democratic party and is a perennially strong vote-getter in the heavily Democratic city that potentially holds the balance of power in Ohio in presidential elections.

It is important that he is foreign-born. He has the political appeal that makes men with foreign origins popular in large cities with strong minorities of voters of recent and remote foreign origins.

It is important, too, that he has the backing of most of the people in Cleveland who pull that city's political strings. They will be pleased with his appointment to Cabinet status in the Kennedy administration, and to the extent they are pleased they will work harder for President Kennedy's success and be less critical of his shortcomings.

This is particularly meaningful when it's borne in mind that the name of Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle had been mentioned as the probable successor to Secretary Ribicoff so often it had begun to seem as though he might be running for re-election as governor this year for his health. Mayor Celebrezze and Gov. DiSalle live on opposite sides of the political tracks.

So much for the more obvious politics of the Celebrezze appointment.

The way we get good government under the two-party system is to combine political realities with human capabilities. Mayor Celebrezze by all accounts is a sound administrator who gets results by eternal vigilance, rarely raising his voice but always keeping his eyes open.

Mr. Ribicoff seems not to have liked the HEW job and resigned from it to run for senator in Connecticut with no regrets. Mayor Celebrezze may not like it either, but Ohioans impressed by his re-election five times are betting Washington will like the mayor. As the only Cabinet member from Ohio, he will be the focus of this state's Democratic pride in the Kennedy administration.

Beer On Sunday

A reader asks in a letter: "I want to know why this city lets beer be sold on Sunday. I like beer, but not on Sunday. And I hope you do something about it."

Under Ohio law, a properly - licensed establishment is permitted to sell beer on Sunday, provided it is not more than 3.2 in alcoholic content.

Some private clubs allow such sales. They are within their rights so long as they observe the 3.2 regulation. To the credit of the local tavern operators, some time ago they reached a "gentleman's agreement" whereby even 3.2 would not be sold on Sunday. To the best of our knowledge, they are observing the agreement.

Should the 3.2 agreement be violated within the city limits, the police should be notified. If the violation occurs outside the East Liverpool limits, the proper authorities should be notified in turn — sheriff or police as the case may be.

As things now stand, only a change in state law or local option can alter the picture.

This Could Go On And On

Perhaps your reaction to the news that Gross National Production — GNP — has been revised downward from $548.3 billion to $545 billion isn't everything it should be.

The significance of the revision is the indication that the Kennedy administration's hope of lifting GNP for all of 1962 to $570 billion is not bright. But what happens to most of us is acute inability to comprehend GNP.

This is what it is:

Statisticians take their combined guesses of all the money that's spent in the country year by year and call it Gross National Product. In 1945, GNP was $213.5 billion. In 1960 it was $504.4 billion. In 1961 it was $500.8 billion. That's what they said.

If capital consumption allowances are taken away from GNP what's left is net national product — NNP. If from NNP are deducted indirect business tax and nontax liability, business transfer payments and statistical discrepancies and subsidies minus current surplus of government enterprises are added that's left is national income. This once was considered more important than GNP.

If you then deduct from national income corporate profits and inventory valuations, also contributions for social insurance and excess of wage accruals over disbursements, then add government transfer payments, net interest paid by government, dividends and business transfer payments, you have personal income.

Simply stated, we get closer year by year to the shivery possibility that some fool statistician will bobble a decimal point and have otherwise sane people jumping out of windows in high buildings from coast to coast. GNP, like the consumer price index and opinion polls, is one more jot of evidence that we're only as well off any more as the statisticians say we are—and they're only guessing.

Play It Safer

We have expressed a feeling before as to what an outstanding job district boat clubs are doing—and a visit to the river Sunday strengthened this feeling.

One thing did come to mind, however, as the speedy craft zoomed here and there: Water skiers and the operators of their boats should exercise extreme caution.

There is a certain danger to such skiing under the best of conditions, but when carelessness creeps in the danger mounts accordingly. A water skier bobbing in the water after a tumble isn't too easy to see from an oncoming boat.

The skiers and the boat operators should get together beforehand and discuss safety procedure.

So Much For Fair Shares

A shakeup of one-third of the 21-member British cabinet, in a move to appease critics of the Macmillan government, sounds drastic and obviously is no maneuver. But Selwun Lloyd, chancellor of the exchequer, was the chief sacrificial lamb in the slaughter because he was under attack for what the Macmillan government called "fair shares."

The American name for fair shares is "productivity increase," the controversial principle that wage increases should be held to a point close to 3½ per cent, on the assumption this isn't inflationary but anything more is borderline extortion and contrary to public policy.

British workers hated fair shares. They argued that workers should get as much as they could and devil take Selwyn Lloyd. They reasoned that economic survival demanded all the industrial traffic would bear because the cost of living continued to go up, fair shares or no fair shares.

The idea galled them so deeply they began to snipe at the Macmillan administration from all directions in the hope of bringing down the one man they blamed for fair shares. They have been successful.

What's going to happen to fair shares in the United States remains to be seen but isn't hard to guess.

More Recognition

The Columbiana County Boy Scout Council has received official recognition of its efforts in 1961, which saw the largest increase in membership of any council in the Northeast Service Area.

The Council was runnerup in the entire region, which includes most of Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky.

The plaque which was received from the National Council reflects much hard work from Council executives on down through the various other Scout positions.

Residents of Columbiana County have every reason to continue to be proud of the Scouting movement which serves youth so well.

Letter From Max

By Martin R. Miller

While we all are feeling proud of the Bell Laboratory accomplishment that put Telstar into orbit for transmission of telephone and television signals across the Atlantic, this might be a good time to give new thought to FCC Chairman Newton Minow's description of television as a "vast wasteland."

Have we really thought through just what we might make of the whole world by eventually taking our television into every home in every country? It might be the least painful but the worst revenge we could inflict on our enemies, with our friends suffering as innocent bystanders.

The preponderance of private-eye and horse-opera programs on our television almost has become a way of life as far as entertainment goes.

One local father thought he was being pretty original when he said he kept a mop in the living room to clean up the blood which flowed out of the TV onto the rug and was mining gunshot lead from the walls of the room. But another father topped him with, "We are growing mushrooms in our living room," what with all the horses he had seen there.

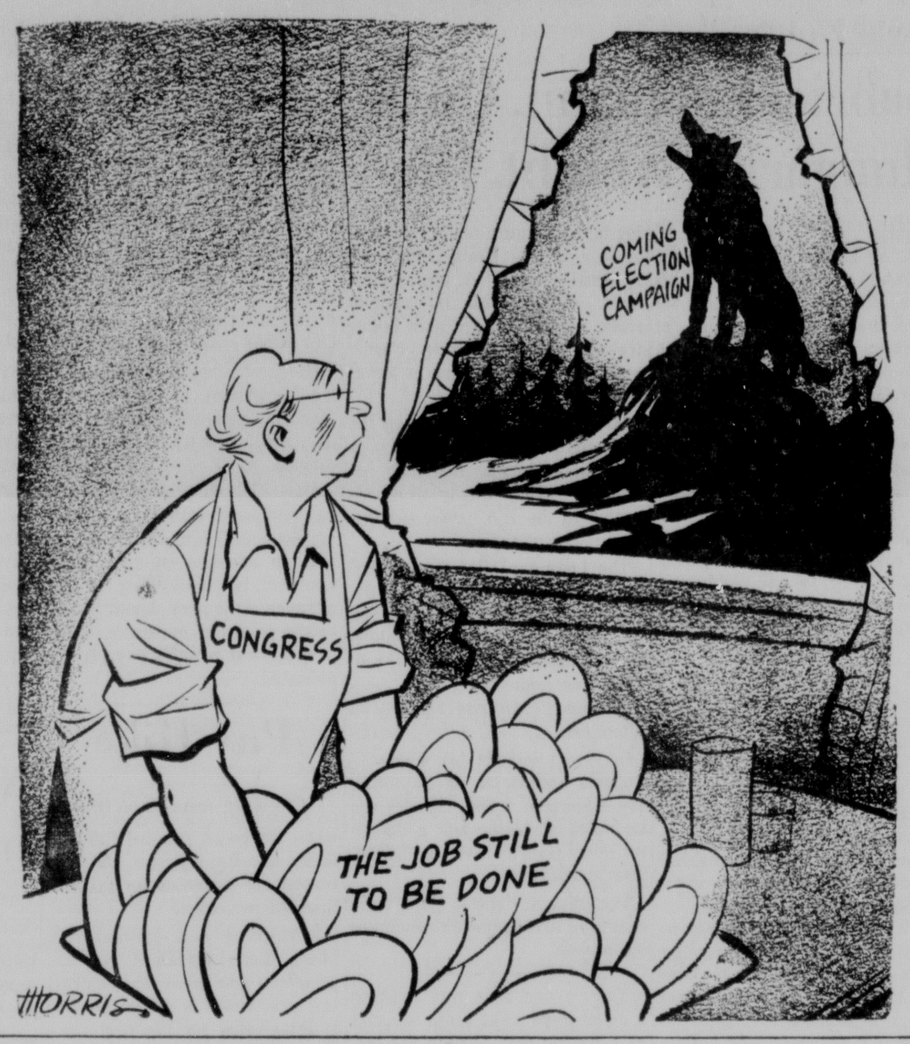
Telstar may well be the latest example of technology outrunning social and cultural values.

It may not be long until antisocial types who work at adjoining desks and don't speak to each other will have the opportunity to extend their range of negative action to such faraway places as Hong Kong and not speak to anyone there either, thanks to Telstar.

Another facinating thought is what one's voice would sound like after a roundtrip of 6,000 miles or more in outer space. It should sound even more tired than usual, but thanks to this modern marvel it probably won't. Those sound engineers are clever people.

Despite the spoofing, it is heartening that this first privately financed space achievement has been made by American Telephone & Telegraph Co., which had the help of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in launching the small globe. AT&T has put $50 million into the project—and that ain't star dust.

Call Of The Wild



Trade Expansion Act Defended

By Arthur J. Goldberg

Arthur Goldberg, secretary of labor, is Victor Riesel's "guest columnist" today. Mr. Goldberg was asked to discuss which of his many campaigns he believes of utmost importance for the long haul. His answer follows.

One of the longest, liveliest, and most inconclusive debates in American history has been going on for nearly two centuries over the issue of tariffs.

Should tariffs be lowered to permit a free flow of goods and services across national boundaries?

Or should they be raised to protect American industries from import competition?

The issue never really has been settled. Throughout our history tariffs have been alternately raised and then lowered, as if the two sides were on a seesaw, with first one, and then the other, tipping the balance in its favor.

Although today that controversy still is as vigorous as ever, there now is a strong possibility that it can be brought to a constructive end.

Earlier this year President Kennedy proposed a Trade Expansion Act which I believe will meet and satisfy the arguments of both sides.

IT WILL SATISFAY the need for expanded trade by authorizing the President to negotiate a reciprocal lowering of tariffs with other nations, thus accelerating the exchange of goods and services between our nation and the rest of the free world.

It will satisfy the need for protectionism by offering adjustment assistance to those firms and workers adversely affected by the rising import competition that lower tariffs would surely bring.

The trade proposal is a part—and an important part—of the President's over-all program for moving this country forward toward the goals of maximum production and full employment.

To illustrate just how important expanded trade is to the national economy I want to dwell briefly on the impact of foreign trade on American jobs.

THE BUREAU of Labor Statistics has recently completed some studies on this subject for the year 1960. It found that more than three million workers in this country held jobs supported by exports, while another one million had jobs supported by imports.

In sum, about four million American workers were employed in 1960 on jobs relating directly to our foreign trade. Not only do these four million jobs provide paychecks for four million workers and their families; they also serve as important sources of income for those who supply the four million families with goods and services.

There are, of course, two sides to the import picture. It is frequently said, and with some justification, that imports do harm to American industries and take away jobs from American workers.

THIS ARGUMENT is not as strong as some make it out. During the time that the United States Tariff Commission has been investigating complaints from industries about import competition, for example, only about 28,000 workers were found to have been displaced in cases where the escape clause had to be applied.

Clearly, this is a small loss when compared with the benefits of foreign trade.

Over the next five years, if the Trade Expansion Act is passed into law, these benefits will be increased.

We have estimated that for every $1 billion increase in exports, 150,000 American jobs will be credited.

The tariff - cutting authority granted in the act would help American producers gain greater access to the fertile and growing Europe and Japan, thereby increasing the nation's exports by several billions of dollars. That also would put several hundreds of thousands of workers in the payrolls.

WE ESTIMATE, on the other hand, that some 90,000 workers would be adversely affected by rising imports over the five-year period. Not all of this total would be displaced from their jobs; many would be forced to go on part-time, with a resulting loss of income.

But we intend to protect all 90,000 workers, and to protect the firms for which they work. As the President said in a speech last year, "I do not intend to see them made victims for the national welfare. I do not intend to give them a medal and an empty grocery bag."

This protection takes the form of adjustment assistance to encourage firms to become more efficient and more competitive, and to provide opportunities for workers to learn new skills, which in many instances would bring higher incomes than they can now command in low-wage industries.

CONSUMERS would benefit from a wider choice of products at a lower range of prices, and the American taxpayer would be reimbursed many times the cost of the program through savings in consumer prices.

Adjustment assistance is positive protectionism. It reaches straight to the workers and firms affected by imports, while paving the way for lower tariffs and freer trade.

I believe the Trade Expansion Act is the answer to ancient arguments about tariffs, and that it will open up a bright new avenue of opportunity for greater economic growth for the nation and greater prosperity for the American people.

Apple Vs. Onion

By David Lawrence

U.S. Needs A 'Natural Economy'

A favorite topic of conversation nowadays among businessmen in Europe concerns the American economy. There are many versions of what is wrong with the business trend in the United States, but most of the analysts fail to take into account that comparing America and Europe is somewhat like comparing apples and onions. The two economies have different problems and different requirements.

David Lawrence

Sooner or later, the obvious becomes news. The obvious in America today is that the national economy is not a natural economy, and that it is burdened and frustrated by nearly $50 billion of unproductive expenditure out of a federal budget of around $90 billion.

This unproductive expenditure has been deemed necessary for national defense — for America's survival. But the armament expense now has reached a point where it has slowed down the growth of business and saddled the nation with a burden of colossal proportions.

Everybody readily concedes that a world war distorts and disrupts a national economy. America never quite recovered from the economic impact of World War I as it experienced a series of recessions and eventually a deep depression which was "cured"—or rather suspended—only by the outbreak of World War II.

It now has been 17 years since the end of the last big war. But from 1950 to 1953, the Korean conflict—which was itself a war of no small proportions—brought to the American economy another era of unnatural operation.

MEANWHILE, the public debt in the United States has been increased so that the American people now pay out $9 billion a year in interest alone. No European nation has a comparable obligation. It is easy enough to talk about how Europe is "prospering," but the European people are not being required to pay taxes to cover any such interest cost.

Most important in its relationship to sound business growth is the fact that the United States has been spending money for armament during the cold war at a rate that is close to what was spent on a hot war in the past.

The expenditures for defense during the past nine years of the cold war total $361.6 billion—or $75 billion more than was spent by the military services for World War II from July 1941 to June 1946.

Similarly, it is more than 13 times what the United States spent for World War I and nearly 3½ times the military expenditures in the three years of the Korean War.

While a huge expenditure for four years, as in the case of World War II, might be digested—though with real difficulty—in the postwar period, how can the national economy accomplish this now and keep on spending at an average of between $40 and $50 billion a year in a cold war?

THIS IS the question that America will have to face up to if it expects to achieve some kind of growth of the economy.

How long can expenditures for unproductive purposes be continued without forcing a bigger and bigger gap between the outgoing payments of gold and the incoming flow of gold?

How long can wage costs continue to be inflated while prices stand still and consumer demand drops off because of years of a deep depression?

The proposals in Washington that a tax cut be given or that tax-depreciation rules be revised by new laws don't by themselves solve the problem arising out of a stagnating economy. America faces a period of readjustment of a fundamental character.

Unless the outflow of American money is equaled by the inflow and unless the United States Treasury's receipts are enough to balance the budget, the confidence of world bankers in the American dollar will weaken.

MANY BANKERS in Europe already are convinced that a revaluation of the gold content of the dollar is inevitable. They read in the press that deficit spending in America has suddenly been accepted as good economics among President Kennedy's advisers.

This revives the age-old comment of economists—that governments, when burdened by excessive debt, deliberately revalue their monetary unit and cheat the people again and again.

The central issue today is armament expense. Unless it is gradually reduced, there will be little chance for a natural economy to operate in the 1960s.

And unless business expansion and modernization of plant and equipment, for example, can be encouraged by a return to productive expenditures by government so that tax receipts will balance the budget, the nation will experience a series of recessions, if not depressions, in the rest of this decade.

Too Much Saving?

Economy May Be Hurting As A Result

It could be that the American people are saving too much money.

The evidence is not conclusive but there are signs that the United States would be better off if the public was saving less and enjoying itself more.

One important cause of the economy's sluggish behavior in recent months has been disappointing consumer buying of automobiles, appliances and other items.

Consumers are spending substantial sums but they are not spending heavily enough to give economic activity a real upward thrust.

The disappointing consumer buying is reflected in factory reluctance to hire more workers and in smaller factory orders for steel, copper, aluminum, and other raw materials.

BUSINESSMEN are building fewer new factories and are ordering less equipment than they would purchase if their sales volume were rising at a fast clip. They have idle productive capacity and are loath to add more facilities that will not be used until consumer demand perks up.

There is a great deal of talk about how fine it is that the American people are "liquid"—that individuals have large financial resources that they can spend if their incomes are reduced by a business slowdown.

Some experts fear that the building up of those assets may cause the slowdown that they're supposed to be protecting people against.

Partly it's a question of whether the chicken or the egg came first: Are people saving because they have ample stocks and don't want to buy the appliances and cars—or are they not buying because they want to save?

One Washington expert who has been giving much thought to the savings problem is Harry S. Swartz, a former top San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank economist who now is adviser to the Federal Home Loan Bank board.

Mr. Schwartz is directly concerned because the FHLB regulates the Federal Savings and Loan Associations. They bid for the public's savings accounts and put the money to work by investing it in mortgages.

The FHLB expert has not come up with any final answers but he is raising some disturbing questions.

What Mr. Schwartz suspects is that the country's financial institutions are making it too attractive to save.

THAT MAY BE a shocking suggestion in a nation which believes that thrift is one of the great virtues but Mr. Schwartz fears that we may be having too much of a good thing.

They have been bidding against each other for deposits. A number of mutual savings banks recently raised their interest rates for the July-September quarter. Earlier, the savings and loans boosted their rates for the April-June quarter; and, before that, the commercial banks lifted their payments effective Jan. 1.

Mr. Schwartz is afraid that a number of supposedly staid financial institutions have become infatuated with the idea of growth—and are seeking more deposits even though they know that they will be able to put the money to work profitably only by placing it in relatively risky investments.

The U.S. would be in better shape if financial institutions were trying less vigorously to attract savings—and if consumers were spending more heavily, Mr. Schwartz opines.

To the credit of the local tavern operators, some time ago they reached a "gentleman's agreement" whereby even 3.2 would not be sold on Sunday. To the best of our knowledge, they are observing the agreement.

Should the 3.2 agreement be violated within the city limits, the police should be notified. If the violation occurs outside the East Liverpool limits, the proper authorities should be notified in turn — sheriff or police as the case may be.

As things now stand, only a change in state law or local option can alter the picture.

This Could Go On And On

Perhaps your reaction to the news that Gross National Production — GNP — has been revised downward from $548.3 billion to $545 billion isn't everything it should be.

The significance of the revision is the indication that the Kennedy administration's hope of lifting GNP for all of 1962 to $570 billion is not bright. But what happens to most of us is acute inability to comprehend GNP.

This is what it is:

Statisticians take their combined guesses of all the money that's spent in the country year by year and call it Gross National Product. In 1945, GNP was $213.5 billion. In 1960 it was $504.4 billion. In 1961 it was $500.8 billion. That's what they said.

If capital consumption allowances are taken away from GNP what's left is net national product — NNP. If from NNP are deducted indirect business tax and nontax liability, business transfer payments and statistical discrepancies and subsidies minus current surplus of government enterprises are added that's left is national income. This once was considered more important than GNP.

If you then deduct from national income corporate profits and inventory valuations, also contributions for social insurance and excess of wage accruals over disbursements, then add government transfer payments, net interest paid by government, dividends and business transfer payments, you have personal income.

Simply stated, we get closer year by year to the shivery possibility that some fool statistician will bobble a decimal point and have otherwise sane people jumping out of windows in high buildings from coast to coast. GNP, like the consumer price index and opinion polls, is one more jot of evidence that we're only as well off any more as the statisticians say we are—and they're only guessing.

Play It Safer

We have expressed a feeling before as to what an outstanding job district boat clubs are doing—and a visit to the river Sunday strengthened this feeling.

One thing did come to mind, however, as the speedy craft zoomed here and there: Water skiers and the operators of their boats should exercise extreme caution.

There is a certain danger to such skiing under the best of conditions, but when carelessness creeps in the danger mounts accordingly. A water skier bobbing in the water after a tumble isn't too easy to see from an oncoming boat.

The skiers and the boat operators should get together beforehand and discuss safety procedure.

So Much For Fair Shares

A shakeup of one-third of the 21-member British cabinet, in a move to appease critics of the Macmillan government, sounds drastic and obviously is no maneuver. But Selwun Lloyd, chancellor of the exchequer, was the chief sacrificial lamb in the slaughter because he was under attack for what the Macmillan government called "fair shares."

The American name for fair shares is "productivity increase," the controversial principle that wage increases should be held to a point close to 3½ per cent, on the assumption this isn't inflationary but anything more is borderline extortion and contrary to public policy.

British workers hated fair shares. They argued that workers should get as much as they could and devil take Selwyn Lloyd. They reasoned that economic survival demanded all the industrial traffic would bear because the cost of living continued to go up, fair shares or no fair shares.

The idea galled them so deeply they began to snipe at the Macmillan administration from all directions in the hope of bringing down the one man they blamed for fair shares. They have been successful.

What's going to happen to fair shares in the United States remains to be seen but isn't hard to guess.

More Recognition

The Columbiana County Boy Scout Council has received official recognition of its efforts in 1961, which saw the largest increase in membership of any council in the Northeast Service Area.

The Council was runnerup in the entire region, which includes most of Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky.

The plaque which was received from the National Council reflects much hard work from Council executives on down through the various other Scout positions.

Residents of Columbiana County have every reason to continue to be proud of the Scouting movement which serves youth so well.

Letter From Max

By Martin R. Miller

While we all are feeling proud of the Bell Laboratory accomplishment that put Telstar into orbit for transmission of telephone and television signals across the Atlantic, this might be a good time to give new thought to FCC Chairman Newton Minow's description of television as a "vast wasteland."

Have we really thought through just what we might make of the whole world by eventually taking our television into every home in every country? It might be the least painful but the worst revenge we could inflict on our enemies, with our friends suffering as innocent bystanders.

The preponderance of private-eye and horse-opera programs on our television almost has become a way of life as far as entertainment goes.

One local father thought he was being pretty original when he said he kept a mop in the living room to clean up the blood which flowed out of the TV onto the rug and was mining gunshot lead from the walls of the room. But another father topped him with, "We are growing mushrooms in our living room," what with all the horses he had seen there.

Telstar may well be the latest example of technology outrunning social and cultural values.

It may not be long until antisocial types who work at adjoining desks and don't speak to each other will have the opportunity to extend their range of negative action to such faraway places as Hong Kong and not speak to anyone there either, thanks to Telstar.

Another facinating thought is what one's voice would sound like after a roundtrip of 6,000 miles or more in outer space. It should sound even more tired than usual, but thanks to this modern marvel it probably won't. Those sound engineers are clever people.

Despite the spoofing, it is heartening that this first privately financed space achievement has been made by American Telephone & Telegraph Co., which had the help of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in launching the small globe. AT&T has put $50 million into the project—and that ain't star dust.

Call Of The Wild

By Arthur J. Goldberg

Arthur Goldberg, secretary of labor, is Victor Riesel's "guest columnist" today. Mr. Goldberg was asked to discuss which of his many campaigns he believes of utmost importance for the long haul. His answer follows.

One of the longest, liveliest, and most inconclusive debates in American history has been going on for nearly two centuries over the issue of tariffs.

Should tariffs be lowered to permit a free flow of goods and services across national boundaries?

Or should they be raised to protect American industries from import competition?

The issue never really has been settled. Throughout our history tariffs have been alternately raised and then lowered, as if the two sides were on a seesaw, with first one, and then the other, tipping the balance in its favor.

Although today that controversy still is as vigorous as ever, there now is a strong possibility that it can be brought to a constructive end.

Earlier this year President Kennedy proposed a Trade Expansion Act which I believe will meet and satisfy the arguments of both sides.

IT WILL SATISFAY the need for expanded trade by authorizing the President to negotiate a reciprocal lowering of tariffs with other nations, thus accelerating the exchange of goods and services between our nation and the rest of the free world.

It will satisfy the need for protectionism by offering adjustment assistance to those firms and workers adversely affected by the rising import competition that lower tariffs would surely bring.

The trade proposal is a part—and an important part—of the President's over-all program for moving this country forward toward the goals of maximum production and full employment.

To illustrate just how important expanded trade is to the national economy I want to dwell briefly on the impact of foreign trade on American jobs.

THE BUREAU of Labor Statistics has recently completed some studies on this subject for the year 1960. It found that more than three million workers in this country held jobs supported by exports, while another one million had jobs supported by imports.

In sum, about four million American workers were employed in 1960 on jobs relating directly to our foreign trade. Not only do these four million jobs provide paychecks for four million workers and their families; they also serve as important sources of income for those who supply the four million families with goods and services.

There are, of course, two sides to the import picture. It is frequently said, and with some justification, that imports do harm to American industries and take away jobs from American workers.

THIS ARGUMENT is not as strong as some make it out. During the time that the United States Tariff Commission has been investigating complaints from industries about import competition, for example, only about 28,000 workers were found to have been displaced in cases where the escape clause had to be applied.

Clearly, this is a small loss when compared with the benefits of foreign trade.

Over the next five years, if the Trade Expansion Act is passed into law, these benefits will be increased.

We have estimated that for every $1 billion increase in exports, 150,000 American jobs will be credited.

The tariff - cutting authority granted in the act would help American producers gain greater access to the fertile and growing Europe and Japan, thereby increasing the nation's exports by several billions of dollars. That also would put several hundreds of thousands of workers in the payrolls.

WE ESTIMATE, on the other hand, that some 90,000 workers would be adversely affected by rising imports over the five-year period. Not all of this total would be displaced from their jobs; many would be forced to go on part-time, with a resulting loss of income.

But we intend to protect all 90,000 workers, and to protect the firms for which they work. As the President said in a speech last year, "I do not intend to see them made victims for the national welfare. I do not intend to give them a medal and an empty grocery bag."

This protection takes the form of adjustment assistance to encourage firms to become more efficient and more competitive, and to provide opportunities for workers to learn new skills, which in many instances would bring higher incomes than they can now command in low-wage industries.

CONSUMERS would benefit from a wider choice of products at a lower range of prices, and the American taxpayer would be reimbursed many times the cost of the program through savings in consumer prices.

Adjustment assistance is positive protectionism. It reaches straight to the workers and firms affected by imports, while paving the way for lower tariffs and freer trade.

I believe the Trade Expansion Act is the answer to ancient arguments about tariffs, and that it will open up a bright new avenue of opportunity for greater economic growth for the nation and greater prosperity for the American people.

Apple Vs. Onion

By David Lawrence

U.S. Needs A 'Natural Economy'

A favorite topic of conversation nowadays among businessmen in Europe concerns the American economy. There are many versions of what is wrong with the business trend in the United States, but most of the analysts fail to take into account that comparing America and Europe is somewhat like comparing apples and onions. The two economies have different problems and different requirements.

David Lawrence

Sooner or later, the obvious becomes news. The obvious in America today is that the national economy is not a natural economy, and that it is burdened and frustrated by nearly $50 billion of unproductive expenditure out of a federal budget of around $90 billion.

This unproductive expenditure has been deemed necessary for national defense — for America's survival. But the armament expense now has reached a point where it has slowed down the growth of business and saddled the nation with a burden of colossal proportions.

Everybody readily concedes that a world war distorts and disrupts a national economy. America never quite recovered from the economic impact of World War I as it experienced a series of recessions and eventually a deep depression which was "cured"—or rather suspended—only by the outbreak of World War II.

It now has been 17 years since the end of the last big war. But from 1950 to 1953, the Korean conflict—which was itself a war of no small proportions—brought to the American economy another era of unnatural operation.

MEANWHILE, the public debt in the United States has been increased so that the American people now pay out $9 billion a year in interest alone. No European nation has a comparable obligation. It is easy enough to talk about how Europe is "prospering," but the European people are not being required to pay taxes to cover any such interest cost.

Most important in its relationship to sound business growth is the fact that the United States has been spending money for armament during the cold war at a rate that is close to what was spent on a hot war in the past.

The expenditures for defense during the past nine years of the cold war total $361.6 billion—or $75 billion more than was spent by the military services for World War II from July 1941 to June 1946.

Similarly, it is more than 13 times what the United States spent for World War I and nearly 3½ times the military expenditures in the three years of the Korean War.

While a huge expenditure for four years, as in the case of World War II, might be digested—though with real difficulty—in the postwar period, how can the national economy accomplish this now and keep on spending at an average of between $40 and $50 billion a year in a cold war?

THIS IS the question that America will have to face up to if it expects to achieve some kind of growth of the economy.

How long can expenditures for unproductive purposes be continued without forcing a bigger and bigger gap between the outgoing payments of gold and the incoming flow of gold?

How long can wage costs continue to be inflated while prices stand still and consumer demand drops off because of years of a deep depression?

The proposals in Washington that a tax cut be given or that tax-depreciation rules be revised by new laws don't by themselves solve the problem arising out of a stagnating economy. America faces a period of readjustment of a fundamental character.

Unless the outflow of American money is equaled by the inflow and unless the United States Treasury's receipts are enough to balance the budget, the confidence of world bankers in the American dollar will weaken.

MANY BANKERS in Europe already are convinced that a revaluation of the gold content of the dollar is inevitable. They read in the press that deficit spending in America has suddenly been accepted as good economics among President Kennedy's advisers.

This revives the age-old comment of economists—that governments, when burdened by excessive debt, deliberately revalue their monetary unit and cheat the people again and again.

The central issue today is armament expense. Unless it is gradually reduced, there will be little chance for a natural economy to operate in the 1960s.

And unless business expansion and modernization of plant and equipment, for example, can be encouraged by a return to productive expenditures by government so that tax receipts will balance the budget, the nation will experience a series of recessions, if not depressions, in the rest of this decade.

Too Much Saving?

Economy May Be Hurting As A Result

It could be that the American people are saving too much money.

The evidence is not conclusive but there are signs that the United States would be better off if the public was saving less and enjoying itself more.

One important cause of the economy's sluggish behavior in recent months has been disappointing consumer buying of automobiles, appliances and other items.

Consumers are spending substantial sums but they are not spending heavily enough to give economic activity a real upward thrust.

The disappointing consumer buying is reflected in factory reluctance to hire more workers and in smaller factory orders for steel, copper, aluminum, and other raw materials.

BUSINESSMEN are building fewer new factories and are ordering less equipment than they would purchase if their sales volume were rising at a fast clip. They have idle productive capacity and are loath to add more facilities that will not be used until consumer demand perks up.

There is a great deal of talk about how fine it is that the American people are "liquid"—that individuals have large financial resources that they can spend if their incomes are reduced by a business slowdown.

Some experts fear that the building up of those assets may cause the slowdown that they're supposed to be protecting people against.

Partly it's a question of whether the chicken or the egg came first: Are people saving because they have ample stocks and don't want to buy the appliances and cars—or are they not buying because they want to save?

One Washington expert who has been giving much thought to the savings problem is Harry S. Swartz, a former top San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank economist who now is adviser to the Federal Home Loan Bank board.

Mr. Schwartz is directly concerned because the FHLB regulates the Federal Savings and Loan Associations. They bid for the public's savings accounts and put the money to work by investing it in mortgages.

The FHLB expert has not come up with any final answers but he is raising some disturbing questions.

What Mr. Schwartz suspects is that the country's financial institutions are making it too attractive to save.

THAT MAY BE a shocking suggestion in a nation which believes that thrift is one of the great virtues but Mr. Schwartz fears that we may be having too much of a good thing.

They have been bidding against each other for deposits. A number of mutual savings banks recently raised their interest rates for the July-September quarter. Earlier, the savings and loans boosted their rates for the April-June quarter; and, before that, the commercial banks lifted their payments effective Jan. 1.

Mr. Schwartz is afraid that a number of supposedly staid financial institutions have become infatuated with the idea of growth—and are seeking more deposits even though they know that they will be able to put the money to work profitably only by placing it in relatively risky investments.

The U.S. would be in better shape if financial institutions were trying less vigorously to attract savings—and if consumers were spending more heavily, Mr. Schwartz opines.

Bill Approved To Purchase 2 Police Cars

Council gave approval Monday night to a resolution authorizing the administration to advertise for bids on purchase of two new autos for use as police department cruisers.

The legislation provides bidders may offer the city a "clean deal" or take in trade two vehicles ruled "no longer fit for public use," a 1958 Chevrolet two-door and a 1960 Chevrolet four-door.

Containing an emergency clause, the legislation will go into effect immediately after approval by Acting Mayor Charles N. Edwards. The Council president is acting in place of Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, who is on vacation.

The purchase was agreed upon after Council and the administration first sought, then later rejected, bids on leasing four vehicles for the department under a three-year contract.

Bids were received a few weeks ago from two concerns, Mike Turk, Inc., and East Liverpool Central Service, but Council advised the administration to reject both as too high.

In the annual appropriation ordinance, $5,000 was provided for "new police cruisers," without specifying whether the vehicles were to be leased or purchased. About the same time, Council accepted a recommendation from its planning committee to investigate the possibility of leasing the cars, an alternative to an outright purchase.

Following approval of the ordinance, Owen immediately issued a call for bids on the new cruisers and said offers will be received at noon Aug. 3.

Bidders can submit offers to supply cruisers with or without the trade-in of the present equipment.

Approval was given to two other pieces of legislation, an amended appropriation ordinance providing a total of $12,500 and a bill authorizing payment of a claim against the city.

The principal item in the amended appropriation allocates $10,000 to the street department's maintenance and repair fund from the income tax fund.

Councilman George E. Willshaw, finance committee chairman, explained that the street department fund was the only one running ahead of anticipated expenditures when six-month balances were checked a few weeks ago with Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate.

It also provides for a $1,000 appropriation for incidentals under the subdivision "lands and buildings" from income tax revenue.

The ordinance provides for a $1,000 transfer to police department overtime from funds set up for regular police salaries. It also allocates $500 for the fire department's use on fire hydrants, transferring it from a sum previously set up for maintenance of equipment.

An ordinance was approved authorizing payment of $50.15 to Ruth P. Adkins, 1059 Monaca St., for damage to her auto when it allegedly was scraped by a city road oiler May 23 on Monaca St.

In other action, Council approved an ordinance authorizing a $4,000 appropriation to pay interest dating back to 1949 on two federal loans which the city obtained in 1946 and 1947 for planning municipal street and sewer projects.

At its June 19 meeting, Council had authorized repayment of the two loans at the rate of $1,000 each year on the principal of both. The two total $21,013.

In a letter read before the ordinance was considered, Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper said he would "urge strongly" that the legislation be enacted. If the interest is not paid, the city is likely to be denied federal aid on projects in the future, including the planned St. Clair Ave. improvement, Cooper said.

He said interest - free loans granted the city in the past probably saved the city about $10,000.

2 Motorists Forfeit On Hancock Charges

NEW CUMBERLAND — Two motorists forfeited bonds totaling $93 when they failed to appear for hearings Monday night before Squire John D. Herron on traffic charges filed by Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

Bridge Footwalk Hit As Auto Door Opens

A car door that opened accidentally was blamed for a crash Monday afternoon that caused heavy damage to a Chester woman's auto and the footwalk and railing at the East Liverpool end of the Chester bridge, police reported.

Olive Ulbright, 23, of Chester R. D. 1 told officers she was preparing to cross the bridge and was traveling 10 to 15 miles an hour when the door flew open. She apparently lost control and the auto struck the footwalk and railing.

Larry Cochran, 963 W. 8th St., who was traveling behind the woman, agreed with her statement, police said. Officers said there was extensive damage to the front end of the 1954 four-door sedan.

School Board Given Report On Vacancies

A girls' physical education teacher and a mathematics instructor for the high school, a vocal music teacher at Westgate and several first, second and third grade teachers are needed to round out the staff for the 1962-63 term, Supt. Ralph W. Betts told the Board of Education Monday night.

One of the most difficult posts to fill is that of the physical education instructor, Betts said, explaining 20 universities have been contacted, but only one inquiry for the post has been received.

Four new teachers were appointed by the board.

Miss Arlette Helfrich was named supervisor of vocal music to succeed E. King Mathews, who resigned early in the spring to accept a post in Cleveland, Miss Helfrich has had five years' experience, including two years in Lima and three years in Yonkers, N. Y.

The other new instructors include Archie Myers, who has had two years at Mingo Junction, as an instrumental music teacher, and John Pifko, a recent graduate of the College of Steubenville and Don Westfall, who has had seven years' experience in West Virginia, as secondary teachers.

Charles Bole, who has been serving on a temporary basis, received a permanent appointment as a custodian.

The board awarded a contract for student insurance to the Pioneer Mutual Casualty Co. of Columbus, represented locally by Paul Shingler.

Betts recommended the Pioneer firm after studying offers from four other companies.

The premium for elementary students will be $2 a year and for junior and senior high school students, $3. As an option, the firm will offer 24-hour coverage, which includes summer months, for $8 for elementary students and $10 for secondary pupils.

The policy provides for a maximum of $3,000 for any one accident. Football coverage will cost $15 each, which will be paid by the Athletic Board. There is no deductible clause for the football coverage.

All would-be players will be covered from the start of training but the Athletic Board will have to pay only for those on the squad on the day prior to the first game.

About 60 per cent of the students generally enroll in the insurance program.

A contract to supply milk again was awarded to the Golden Star Dairy on its low bid of 6½ cents per half pint. Vernon Dell Dairy of Calcutta asked 6¾ cents.

A request for Gordon Bright to remain in the Beaver Local District this year was approved. Betts explained the family has moved into the city district but asked that the youngster be permitted to attend the sixth grade at Beaver Local and then enter junior high here for the 1963-64 term.

The board also granted a request for Candice Steiner to attend city schools. Her mother is a teacher in the Glenmoor school, Betts explained.

The board also authorized diplomas for Richard Kelly, Charles Master and Sheryl Moore, who completed their high school requirements in summer school.

Truck Bought On Top Offer

LISBON—Village Council voted, 5-1, Monday to buy a new two-ton dump truck for the street department from Lewis Chevrolet Co. Its bid of $3,775 was highest of three.

Also submitting bids on the advertisement for a 1½-ton truck were Lehman Dodge of the Salem Rd., $3,499, and O. S. Hill & Co., $3,767 and $3,877, depending on body selected.

None of the bidders was able to meet the specifications with a 1½-ton model and had to bid on a larger chassis. All proposals included trade-in allowance on the 1951 model dump truck now in use.

Councilman Ray Dixon, chairman of the street committee, said the committee was unable to make a recommendation after studying the bids for a week. However, when other councilmen asked his personal opinion, he said he considered the Chevrolet the best buy on the basis of equipment offered despite being the highest in price.

Dixon is a mechanic at the County Highway Department garage. Robert Kelm and Fred Steele are the other members of the committee.

Dixon made the motion to buy the Chevrolet and was supported by Mrs. Blanche Neill, Clyde Pike, Kelm and Joseph Dornon. Fred Steele cast the opposing vote.

Councilmen asked for delivery within 30 days.

who was driving. Constable Johnson said first indications were that the older youth was at the wheel, but Austin was reported this morning to have said his brother was driving.

Keith suffered a probable skull fracture, fractures of the right arm and multiple lacerations and abrasions of the face and scalp.

Austin received a concussion, laceration of the forehead and multiple bruises and abrasions of the body.

The older youth managed to walk about 500 feet along the road to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Taggart to obtain assistance.

Taggart was awakened by the youth's calls for help as he approached the house and he woke his wife. They found the boy had crawled up onto the porch.

"He was covered with blood," Mrs. Taggart said, "and told us his brother was lying down the road."

The family immediately called two ambulances from Wellsville and notified Johnson.

Johnson said the younger boy was lying in the road about 20 feet from the wrecked auto.

The constable said the sedan must have been traveling about 40 to 45 miles an hour and it skidded about 40 feet on the curve before ramming against the embankment, demolishing the auto.

The crash site is about two miles northwest of the Wellsville city limits, according to Johnson, who was to continue his investigation today.

THE REVIEW

Bill Approved To Purchase 2 Police Cars

Council gave approval Monday night to a resolution authorizing the administration to advertise for bids on purchase of two new autos for use as police department cruisers.

The legislation provides bidders may offer the city a "clean deal" or take in trade two vehicles ruled "no longer fit for public use," a 1958 Chevrolet two-door and a 1960 Chevrolet four-door.

Containing an emergency clause, the legislation will go into effect immediately after approval by Acting Mayor Charles N. Edwards. The Council president is acting in place of Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, who is on vacation.

The purchase was agreed upon after Council and the administration first sought, then later rejected, bids on leasing four vehicles for the department under a three-year contract.

Bids were received a few weeks ago from two concerns, Mike Turk, Inc., and East Liverpool Central Service, but Council advised the administration to reject both as too high.

In the annual appropriation ordinance, $5,000 was provided for "new police cruisers," without specifying whether the vehicles were to be leased or purchased. About the same time, Council accepted a recommendation from its planning committee to investigate the possibility of leasing the cars, an alternative to an outright purchase.

Following approval of the ordinance, Owen immediately issued a call for bids on the new cruisers and said offers will be received at noon Aug. 3.

Bidders can submit offers to supply cruisers with or without the trade-in of the present equipment.

Approval was given to two other pieces of legislation, an amended appropriation ordinance providing a total of $12,500 and a bill authorizing payment of a claim against the city.

The principal item in the amended appropriation allocates $10,000 to the street department's maintenance and repair fund from the income tax fund.

Councilman George E. Willshaw, finance committee chairman, explained that the street department fund was the only one running ahead of anticipated expenditures when six-month balances were checked a few weeks ago with Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate.

It also provides for a $1,000 appropriation for incidentals under the subdivision "lands and buildings" from income tax revenue.

The ordinance provides for a $1,000 transfer to police department overtime from funds set up for regular police salaries. It also allocates $500 for the fire department's use on fire hydrants, transferring it from a sum previously set up for maintenance of equipment.

An ordinance was approved authorizing payment of $50.15 to Ruth P. Adkins, 1059 Monaca St., for damage to her auto when it allegedly was scraped by a city road oiler May 23 on Monaca St.

In other action, Council approved an ordinance authorizing a $4,000 appropriation to pay interest dating back to 1949 on two federal loans which the city obtained in 1946 and 1947 for planning municipal street and sewer projects.

At its June 19 meeting, Council had authorized repayment of the two loans at the rate of $1,000 each year on the principal of both. The two total $21,013.

In a letter read before the ordinance was considered, Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper said he would "urge strongly" that the legislation be enacted. If the interest is not paid, the city is likely to be denied federal aid on projects in the future, including the planned St. Clair Ave. improvement, Cooper said.

He said interest - free loans granted the city in the past probably saved the city about $10,000.

Six members of Midland American Legion Post 481 will attend the state Legion convention at Philadelphia Wednesday through Saturday.

Delegates will include George Huha Jr., commander, William Riddle, commander-elect, Harry Hulton, John Reider, and John Waddingham, an alternate, who will attend instead of Truman Rodfong, a delegate. William Coble, an alternate, also will attend.

New officers of the post will be installed by James Gabriel of New Castle, new district commander, at a meeting Aug. 13.

2 Motorists Forfeit On Hancock Charges

NEW CUMBERLAND — Two motorists forfeited bonds totaling $93 when they failed to appear for hearings Monday night before Squire John D. Herron on traffic charges filed by Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

Dora Manley, 29, of Weirton forfeited $60. She was charged with driving without a license and reckless operation after her car crashed Sunday on Wiley Ridge Rd.

Thomas VanDerSluis of Jersey City, N. J., forfeited $33. He was charged with permitting the woman, an unlicensed driver, to operate his car.

Bridge Footwalk Hit As Auto Door Opens

A car door that opened accidentally was blamed for a crash Monday afternoon that caused heavy damage to a Chester woman's auto and the footwalk and railing at the East Liverpool end of the Chester bridge, police reported.

Olive Ulbright, 23, of Chester R. D. 1 told officers she was preparing to cross the bridge and was traveling 10 to 15 miles an hour when the door flew open. She apparently lost control and the auto struck the footwalk and railing.

Larry Cochran, 963 W. 8th St., who was traveling behind the woman, agreed with her statement, police said. Officers said there was extensive damage to the front end of the 1954 four-door sedan.

Jail Termed 'Good'

BEAVER — County Commissioner James Ross has received a letter from the Pennsylvania Department of Justice, Bureau of Corrections, reporting that an annual inspection of the Beaver County Jail continues to merit a rating of "good."

School Board Given Report On Vacancies

A girls' physical education teacher and a mathematics instructor for the high school, a vocal music teacher at Westgate and several first, second and third grade teachers are needed to round out the staff for the 1962-63 term, Supt. Ralph W. Betts told the Board of Education Monday night.

One of the most difficult posts to fill is that of the physical education instructor, Betts said, explaining 20 universities have been contacted, but only one inquiry for the post has been received.

Four new teachers were appointed by the board.

Miss Arlette Helfrich was named supervisor of vocal music to succeed E. King Mathews, who resigned early in the spring to accept a post in Cleveland, Miss Helfrich has had five years' experience, including two years in Lima and three years in Yonkers, N. Y.

The other new instructors include Archie Myers, who has had two years at Mingo Junction, as an instrumental music teacher, and John Pifko, a recent graduate of the College of Steubenville and Don Westfall, who has had seven years' experience in West Virginia, as secondary teachers.

Charles Bole, who has been serving on a temporary basis, received a permanent appointment as a custodian.

The board awarded a contract for student insurance to the Pioneer Mutual Casualty Co. of Columbus, represented locally by Paul Shingler.

Betts recommended the Pioneer firm after studying offers from four other companies.

The premium for elementary students will be $2 a year and for junior and senior high school students, $3. As an option, the firm will offer 24-hour coverage, which includes summer months, for $8 for elementary students and $10 for secondary pupils.

The policy provides for a maximum of $3,000 for any one accident. Football coverage will cost $15 each, which will be paid by the Athletic Board. There is no deductible clause for the football coverage.

All would-be players will be covered from the start of training but the Athletic Board will have to pay only for those on the squad on the day prior to the first game.

About 60 per cent of the students generally enroll in the insurance program.

A contract to supply milk again was awarded to the Golden Star Dairy on its low bid of 6½ cents per half pint. Vernon Dell Dairy of Calcutta asked 6¾ cents.

A request for Gordon Bright to remain in the Beaver Local District this year was approved. Betts explained the family has moved into the city district but asked that the youngster be permitted to attend the sixth grade at Beaver Local and then enter junior high here for the 1963-64 term.

The board also granted a request for Candice Steiner to attend city schools. Her mother is a teacher in the Glenmoor school, Betts explained.

The board also authorized diplomas for Richard Kelly, Charles Master and Sheryl Moore, who completed their high school requirements in summer school.

Israeli authorities refused to let Soblen stay in Israel and on July 1 put him aboard a chartered airliner bound for New York via Athens and London. With him were an Israeli doctor and U.S. Marshal James McShane.

The judges will decide whether to continue a writ of habeas corpus Soblen's lawyers obtained in a lower court. The British government contends he landed in Britain without permission and has to leave when recovered from the suicide attempt.

If Soblen is freed, he could leave for any foreign port. The espionage charge against him is not extraditable under the extradition treaty between Britain and the United States.

Presumably, however, only a Communist country would accept him since he does not have a valid passport. He made the flight to Israel on a dead brother's Canadian passport.

Truck Bought On Top Offer

LISBON—Village Council voted, 5-1, Monday to buy a new two-ton dump truck for the street department from Lewis Chevrolet Co. Its bid of $3,775 was highest of three.

Also submitting bids on the advertisement for a 1½-ton truck were Lehman Dodge of the Salem Rd., $3,499, and O. S. Hill & Co., $3,767 and $3,877, depending on body selected.

None of the bidders was able to meet the specifications with a 1½-ton model and had to bid on a larger chassis. All proposals included trade-in allowance on the 1951 model dump truck now in use.

Councilman Ray Dixon, chairman of the street committee, said the committee was unable to make a recommendation after studying the bids for a week. However, when other councilmen asked his personal opinion, he said he considered the Chevrolet the best buy on the basis of equipment offered despite being the highest in price.

Dixon is a mechanic at the County Highway Department garage. Robert Kelm and Fred Steele are the other members of the committee.

Dixon made the motion to buy the Chevrolet and was supported by Mrs. Blanche Neill, Clyde Pike, Kelm and Joseph Dornon. Fred Steele cast the opposing vote.

Councilmen asked for delivery within 30 days.

who was driving. Constable Johnson said first indications were that the older youth was at the wheel, but Austin was reported this morning to have said his brother was driving.

Keith suffered a probable skull fracture, fractures of the right arm and multiple lacerations and abrasions of the face and scalp.

Austin received a concussion, laceration of the forehead and multiple bruises and abrasions of the body.

The older youth managed to walk about 500 feet along the road to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Taggart to obtain assistance.

Taggart was awakened by the youth's calls for help as he approached the house and he woke his wife. They found the boy had crawled up onto the porch.

"He was covered with blood," Mrs. Taggart said, "and told us his brother was lying down the road."

The family immediately called two ambulances from Wellsville and notified Johnson.

Johnson said the younger boy was lying in the road about 20 feet from the wrecked auto.

The constable said the sedan must have been traveling about 40 to 45 miles an hour and it skidded about 40 feet on the curve before ramming against the embankment, demolishing the auto.

The crash site is about two miles northwest of the Wellsville city limits, according to Johnson, who was to continue his investigation today.

Q. How can I remove white stains on furniture, caused by water and heat?

A. Mix a half-and-half solution of turpentine and linseed oil, dip a cloth into this, and rub over the spots.

Q. How can I care for slate tile floors?

A. Slate tile floors should be dusted with an untreated mop and brushed with a soft brush or vacuum cleaner attachment. Wash them with a mop and mild suds, rinse, and wipe dry. Wax makes a nice finish.

Q. How can I prevent that tough "skin" which invariably forms on my puddings?

Driver Fined, Lectured For Hit-Skip Case

A Sunnyside motorist who drove away from a traffic accident late Sunday night on Smith St., learned today in Municipal Court that his action cost him $90.

Clyde I. Cunningham, 1010 Florence St., drew a fine of $50 plus costs of $7.50 and a severe tonguelashing from Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after pleading guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

"If it had been me, I would have drawn up this charge under the state law so I could have sent you to jail," Judge Chertoff told the defendant. "It's pretty cowardly to run away and I can't condone your action."

Cunningham had posted a $32.50 bond for an appearance yesterday morning on the charge filed by Patrolman H. W. Bosworth, who nabbed the motorist on Webber Way about 17 minutes after his car struck a parked truck and a parked convertible.

Irate because Cunningham failed to appear, Judge Chertoff forfeited the bond and issued a bench warrant for Cunningham's arrest. Taken into custody yesterday afternoon, Cunningham posted a $100 bond for his appearance this morning.

Asked by the judge why he failed to appear, Cunningham claimed he was in an insurance office and filing the report took longer than he anticipated.

Learning that Cunningham had never been cited into court before, Judge Chertoff declared: "You don't have much respect for the court. When you are cited into court, that's where you are supposed to be. I am determined to show you this is a court of law."

Cunningham said the accident happened when he sneezed and lost control momentarily. He said he drove away because "I was scared," but intended to return when he was picked up by Patrolman Bosworth. He said it was the first time he had been involved in an accident.

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove white stains on furniture, caused by water and heat?

A. Mix a half-and-half solution of turpentine and linseed oil, dip a cloth into this, and rub over the spots.

Q. How can I care for slate tile floors?

A. Slate tile floors should be dusted with an untreated mop and brushed with a soft brush or vacuum cleaner attachment. Wash them with a mop and mild suds, rinse, and wipe dry. Wax makes a nice finish.

Q. How can I prevent that tough "skin" which invariably forms on my puddings?

A. By covering the pudding while it's still hot with some waxed paper.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My wife and I read your column every day and we talk about it. Now I have a question I would like you to settle. Please print it so she can see your answer in black and white.

I'm a member of a labor union. I like to wear my union button at all times because I'm proud of it. My wife says I should not wear a celluloid button with a local number on it when we go out socially—especially to church. She claims it looks out of place and embarrasses her.

I say a labor union button is a badge of honor and it is never out of place. After all, in some countries people can't join labor unions and I'm proud to have the privilege. Please decide who is right.—UNION MAN.

Dear Man: It's wonderful to be so proud of your union badge that you want to wear it everywhere, but I agree with your wife.

There's a time and a place for everything. Freedom to worship is also a privilege denied to people in some countries. But would you wear a badge to your next union meeting reading "I am a Lutheran"?

Wearing a union badge to church or social gatherings adds up to the same thing. It would not be wrong — just out of place.

Rent Solution

Dear Ann: I read with interest the letter from the man who rented the upstairs of his duplex to a family of four. Then a few months later five more people moved in as "guests."

I learned how to deal with such lowbrow tenants. You can be sure the man's hunch was right when he said he couldn't prove it but he suspected the "guests" were paying rent to their friends — probably splitting it.

Before I rent an apartment or a home I put a clause in the lease stating how many people are allowed to occupy the dwelling. (A birth in the family is an exception, of course.) If anyone else moves in for more than four weeks, the rent goes up accordingly.

In the case of this landlord who rented to four and now has nine people living up there, he'd be perfectly justified in doubling the rent and I hope he does. I can guarantee him the "guests" will move out in a hurry.—FLORA.

Born To Fight

Dear Ann: I'm ashamed to write this because you'll probably think I'm a terrible person. On paper it will sound awful but if you met me in person I'm sure you'd find me quite nice.

I married my husband 10 years ago. Three years later I divorced him because we always seemed to be fighting. One year later I married another man and my ex-husband married another woman. His marriage lasted two months and mine lasted three months. We agreed that we had both remarried out of spite. Within six months we were back together again as man and wife.

Eight months later we were fighting just like before. I put up with it for three years and then I divorced him. We couldn't stand to be apart and the kids kept crying for their Daddy, so I remarried him. Everything was fine until three months ago. Now we are fighting again and I want to unload him for good. But I'm afraid to take the step because of what has happened in the past. Please tell me what to do — AGATHA.

Dear Agatha: Some people can't get along with each other or without each other. You two are chronic battlers with a basic need for someone to fight with. Enlist the aid of a third party to referee the big ones instead of running to the divorce court. But stay married.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Work Begins On Additions At South Side

Work on the $506,027 additions at South Side High School near Hookstown was scheduled to get under way today with the arrival of heavy equipment at the Branna Construction Corp. of Pittsburgh.

Victor Thomas Jr., supervising principal, said a crew of eight to 10 men was at the job site Monday following an inspection of the area by construction company representatives Friday.

Thomas said there will be no formal ground - breaking ceremony.

The project includes 10 classrooms, enlargement of the present cafeteria, increasing the shower room facilities, an addition to the industrial arts shop, and a new sewage disposal plant.

Remodeling expected next summer includes converting a commercial class room to a general science classroom and laboratory and increasing the size of the library by taking down a wall of an adjacent classroom.

Thomas said a partition will be added to the cafeteria in order that it may be used while work goes on when school is in session.

Contracts with the various firms who will do the work were signed recently at the State Public School Building Authority in Harrisburg.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Elastic thread is wonderful for many things. When I had a tiny youngster on my lap, I found this thread was good for restringing necklaces! No more breakage.

My girls sew buttons on their housecoats with elastic thread and it saves the pulling-out that we once had. Usually the bottom two buttons are all that require this.

When sewing your little girl an apron (it makes a darling gift, too) shape the pocket like a miniature doll buggy with buttons for the wheels. Use embroidery thread for the handle. Put a tiny 10-cent doll in the pocket and the little girl will be delighted. A new hankie makes a fine blanket for the dolly.

Milk Cartons

DEAR HELOISE: When baking ham or other greasy foods, empty milk cartons are excellent to pour the waste into when carrying the waste to the garbage can. It is unwise to pour grease into the sink.

When sorting laundry, it is time - saving and cleaner to sort it at home by placing the clothes in empty pillowcases rather than on the floor of the wasateria. The weight of each load can be estimated at home so the machine won't be overloaded.

Favorite or successful recipes in cook books can be noted on the margin of the page. Then you can tell at a glance if you've tried the recipe and if your family liked it.

Just Like New

DEAR HELOISE: I reheat my leftover mashed potatoes by putting them in the top of a double boiler. I cook them from 20 to 30 minutes, then rewhip them. They are just as nice as fresh-cooked potatoes.

I use my rubber spatula to separate bacon sliced. I find this does not tear the meat. Slip spatula between slices of bacon.

When using raisins in a recipe, I soak the raisins in hot water for about three minutes, remove from water and shake off excess dampness by using my flour sifter. This eliminates handling of the fruit.

Unbelievable? Try it!

No Fuss

DEAR HELOISE: Your reader who suggested putting an old bath towel in the oven, pouring ammonia over it and letting it soak overnight deserves a bouquet. No irritating fumes, and no skin irritation either. My towel was clean after rinsing, too.

I had been lining our hydrators in the refrigerator with aluminum foil but a janitorial service woman told me to line them with paper towels. Now we are able to keep lemons indefinitely. Also the tomatoes do not mold with paper toweling.

Columbian Park Work Launched, Murray Reports

Work was launched Monday on a project to correct long - standing complaints of a big pool of stagnant water in Columbian Park, Council was advised last night by Councilman Floyd Murray of the First Ward.

A bulldozer is being used to remove earth from the adjoining hillside and fill the low-lying spot, Murray said.

"If the work continues, it will be the answer to this problem," Murray told Council. He said he feels W. Leland Thompson, owner of part of the park tract, should be commended for his efforts to eliminate the condition.

Murray had complained repeatedly about the water which collected in part of the park tract, declaring it was a health hazard. The city Health Board also had asked steps to eliminate the pond of water. It said the pond was a source of odors and a possible breeding place for mosquito larvae.

West Berlin is about 100 miles from the actual border between East and West Germany.

Drive To Cut Dollar Drain Abroad Could Hike Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Defense Department drive to cut the overseas dollar drain another $900 million without sacrificing fighting power could increase the nation's defense budget, now runing close to $50 billion yearly.

But Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, in launching the three-year drive Monday, said he didn't know how much the new approach would cost the taxpayers.

"The savings in gold we believe will justify such a penalty," he told a news conference.

Most of the savings will come through reductions in overseas buying, much of it in Europe. Pentagon experts will also study whether fewer foreign workers through reductions in overseas buying, much of it in Europe. Pentagon experts will also study whether fewer foreign workers can be employed at overseas military installations and will look into the possibility of sending prefabricated housing overseas.

This would mean the purchase of more supplies in this country at higher U.S. prices plus the added cost of transporting them to other countries.

The plan does not envision a ban on the flow of military dependents overseas. Servicemen's families only recently began traveling to Europe after an eight-month ban imposed to save money.

McNamara also expressed hope of expanding an experimental program of rotating 1,500-man Army battle groups to Europe for short periods without dependents. He estimated the savings here at between $1,000 and $3,000 annually per soldier.

Worker Puts Boss In Middle On Tax

DETROIT (AP)— Someone who signed himself "D. Deduction" wrote to the city regarding Detroit's new one per cent income tax:

"You ask on the withholding form what proportion of my work is done in Detroit.

"I was all set to fill in 100 per cent. But I had a long talk with my boss about my work.

"He made it very clear that as far as he can see I have not done a lick of work all year.

"So I have put down 'zero' on my withholding statement. If you want to argue, argue with him."

Lunar Scientist Hints Moon Has Water, Geysers

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The possibility that the moon may have an abundant water supply—including geysers and subsurface glaciers—was suggested today by an internationally known lunar expert.

Dr. Zdenek Kopal, British astrophysicist, said the moon's water supply may be so great that if squeezed out it could cover the lunar globe's surface to a uniform depth of 984 feet.

He told space scientists attending a lunar missions meeting of the American Rocket Society that his conclusions were reached deductively, based on known facts about the composition and behavior of celestial bodies.

Water is composed of hydrogen and oxygen and a lunar water supply would greatly simplify the supply problem of setting up a self-sufficient moon base with its own air supply.

In adding his support to those who believe water is present on the moon, Kopal said there is a possibility earth's smaller companion may have a permafrost several hundred feet deep.

Ice close to the lunar surface, he continued, could form glaciers covered by dust and debris. He said such glaciers could take the form of domes or minor bulges numerous astronomers have observed in certain regions of the moon.

3 Men Plead Innocent To Kidnap Charges

CINCINNATI (AP)—Three Cincinnati men accused of kidnaping two girls have pleaded innocent to federal charges of kidnaping, transporting women across state lines for immoral purposes and conspiracy.

The pleas were entered Monday by Sidney Byrd, 21; James Sandlin, 22, and General Lee Jackson, 24. They were arrested June 12 by FBI agents at Wheeling Ill., after allegedly abducting two Cincinnati girls and subjecting them to rape and torture during a day-long trip.

The trio was indicted by the federal grand jury at Chicago and face a possible death penalty if convicted.

Man Held On Bond In Police Car Theft

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A Springfield, Ohio, man was in jail under $5,000 bond today awaiting action by the grand jury on three charges involving the alleged theft at gunpoint of a police car from a policeman.

William H. Beard, 20, waived a preliminary hearing in Fayette County Quarterly Court Monday on the three charges: armed robbery, grand larceny and flourishing a deadly weapon.

Beard allegedly pulled a pistol and took the patrol car of Joseph Conway Jr. when he tried to question him about an abandoned car. Beard was arrested by pursuing police five miles away.

Third In Family Cited In Holdup

CLEVELAND (AP)—The third member of a Cleveland family has been charged in connection with the $13,365 St. Clair Savings Association holdup.

Ellie Davis Sr., father of two of the holdup suspects captured in Rolla, Mo., was charged Monday night with receiving and concealing $4,300 of the loot. Most of that amount was found hidden in Davis' delicatessen at 7704 Rawlings Ave. SE.

One of Davis' sons, Ellie Jr., 25, has admitted taking part in the robbery, according to Lt. Thomas White of the Cleveland police. He and the other suspects, Arthur Davis, 20, his brother; Leroy Jones, 24, and Willie (Duck) Jackson, 23, were being sent here by Rolla authorities.

There's no USO In Peoria

With good reason. Peorians in our Armed Forces are not staying in Peoria. They're wherever our frontiers of peace need protecting. And that's where the USO is. Serving those who are serving us.

Besides serving those in training areas here, the USO reaches GI's in potentially explosive trouble spots—Berlin to Okinawa—where USO's spiritual uplift and homey relaxation is more needed by our troops than it was in the hot, shooting war. For, as President Kennedy said, "Winning the Peace is a Lonely Battle." Of the 2,750,000 GI's, over half are under 25 . . . and away from home for the first time. For most GI's, their link with home is the nearest USO.

But more USO's are needed. That means more money. Not for Peoria. But for its son, guarding the city limits in far-off lands. Don't let him wonder—even for a minute . . .

"Does Anybody Know I'm Here?"

Support the USO through United Fund or your Community Chest.

Mother Of 2 Draws Term In Bank Theft

CLEVELAND (AP)—A judge's sentence will cause the parents of two teen-agers to be in prison for the $14,000 armed robbery of the United Savings Association Feb. 23, 1961.

Mrs. Donna M. McDonald, mother of a 17-year-old boy and a 15-year-old daughter, was sentenced by Common Pleas Court Judge Joseph H. Silbert to 20 years for helping her husband rob the bank.

Her husband, James, is serving 40 years for his part in that holdup and the single-handed $28,000 robbery of the West Side Federal Savings & Loan Association Nov. 1, 1960. None of the loot from either robbery has been recovered.

There's no USO in Peoria

With good reason. Peorians in our Armed Forces are not staying in Peoria. They're wherever our frontiers of peace need protecting. And that's where the USO is. Serving those who are serving us.

Besides serving those in training areas here, the USO reaches GI's in potentially explosive trouble spots—Berlin to Okinawa—where USO's spiritual uplift and homey relaxation is more needed by our troops than it was in the hot, shooting war. For, as President Kennedy said, "Winning the Peace is a Lonely Battle." Of the 2,750,000 GI's, over half are under 25 . . . and away from home for the first time. For most GI's, their link with home is the nearest USO.

But more USO's are needed. That means more money. Not for Peoria. But for its son, guarding the city limits in far-off lands. Don't let him wonder—even for a minute . . .

"Does Anybody Know I'm Here?"

Support the USO through United Fund or your Community Chest.

Mother Of 2 Draws Term In Bank Theft

CLEVELAND (AP)—A judge's sentence will cause the parents of two teen-agers to be in prison for the $14,000 armed robbery of the United Savings Association Feb. 23, 1961.

Mrs. Donna M. McDonald, mother of a 17-year-old boy and a 15-year-old daughter, was sentenced by Common Pleas Court Judge Joseph H. Silbert to 20 years for helping her husband rob the bank.

Her husband, James, is serving 40 years for his part in that holdup and the single-handed $28,000 robbery of the West Side Federal Savings & Loan Association Nov. 1, 1960. None of the loot from either robbery has been recovered.

Agree On Committee

JERUSALEM (AP) — Jordan and Israel have decided to establish a joint border committee to seek ways of preventing further frontier incidents, an Israeli official reported today.

Senator's Wife Urges Women Be In Space Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The PTA and bridge club can look pretty tame to a girl when outer space beckons, a senator's wife who is a mother of eight observed today.

So why, Mrs. Philip A. Hart asked a House subcommittee, doesn't the United States take a closer look at the possibility of rocketing a female into orbit?

Space agency officials have shown no enthusiasm over proposals that women be included in the space travel program.

"It is inconceivable to me," said the wife of Michigan's junior Democratic senator, "that the world of outer space should be restricted to men only, like some sort of stag club."

Mrs. Hart hastened to add that she wasn't trying to be a space ace Susan B. Anthony.

"I am not arguing that women be admitted to space merely so that they won't feel discriminated against," she said. "I am arguing that they be admitted because they have a very real contribution to make."

Her testimony was prepared for a House Space subcommittee studying the qualifications for astronauts—male and female.

Mrs. Hart is convinced the Soviet Union will send a cosmomiss into orbit this fall—and will be first unless the United States acts soon.

Senator's Wife Urges Women Be In Space Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The PTA and bridge club can look pretty tame to a girl when outer space beckons, a senator's wife who is a mother of eight observed today.

So why, Mrs. Philip A. Hart asked a House subcommittee, doesn't the United States take a closer look at the possibility of rocketing a female into orbit?

Space agency officials have shown no enthusiasm over proposals that women be included in the space travel program.

"It is inconceivable to me," said the wife of Michigan's junior Democratic senator, "that the world of outer space should be restricted to men only, like some sort of stag club."

Mrs. Hart hastened to add that she wasn't trying to be a space ace Susan B. Anthony.

"I am not arguing that women be admitted to space merely so that they won't feel discriminated against," she said. "I am arguing that they be admitted because they have a very real contribution to make."

Her testimony was prepared for a House Space subcommittee studying the qualifications for astronauts—male and female.

Mrs. Hart is convinced the Soviet Union will send a cosmomiss into orbit this fall—and will be first unless the United States acts soon.

Buses Bought For Retarded School Pupils

LISBON — Children going to the Retarded Children's School at Elkton in September will ride in four new, nine-passenger buses ordered Monday by county commissioners.

The contract for the Chevrolet Greenbrier models went to the Columbiana Motor Co. at Columbiana on a bid of $9,340, the lowest of eight.

There was no trade-in. Station wagons used previously will be auctioned off by the school's Advisory Council, since they were donated or purchased before the school came under control of the County Welfare Department.

Delivery of the new buses was requested by Aug. 20. They will be Omaha orange in color—similar to other school buses.

Funds for the purchase come from a two-tenths of a mill levy which county voters passed in May. Lettering of the buses will be done after delivery.

Commissioners made a $300 grant to St. Clair Township trustees for road maintenance and authorized payment of $333.40 to the East Liverpool Memorial Association for Memorial Day expenses.

The association includes nine groups — American Legion Post 4 and its auxiliary, American Legion Post 374, VFW Post 66, Daughters of American Council 287, Gold Star Mothers, Marine Corps League auxiliary, Navy Mothers Club 197 and Ladies of the GAR.

Service groups have until July 29 to apply for help on Memorial Day expenses. The county will pay up to $50 to each organization, providing it submits paid bills.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Saling of Lisbon R. D. 1 and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Olin H. Evans of Elkton.

Observing all the familiar traditions, the bride was attired in a cocktail length gown of white cotton and nylon interspersed with lace with fitted bodice, cap sleeves and round neckline and bouffant skirt. Her pillbox hat was complemented with a short veil and a corsage of pink roses adorned her gown. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Military Coup Held Likely In Peru Crisis

LIMA, Peru (AP) — A military coup was reported imminent today following the resignation of the Peruvian Cabinet because President Manuel Prado refused to bow to the armed forces' demands that he nullify the June 10 national elections.

Premier Carlos Monreyra Paz Soldan and his ministers quit Monday night during a four-hour emergency meeting with Prado. Ex-Finance Minister Alex Zarak told newsmen he expected the armed forces to take power in a day or two.

Word of the Cabinet resignation was received calmly in Lima. The rest of Peru also was reported quiet. Prado went from the Cabinet meeting to a party in his honor given by the diplomatic corps.

The military chiefs have demanded nullification of the national elections in a move to block the possible election to the presidency of Victor Raul Haya de la Torre, candidate of the Popular Revolutionary Alliance—APRA.

Long hated by the military, Haya de la Torre was high man in the presidential balloting on a leftist but avowedly anti-Communist ticket. He failed, however, to get the one-third of the total vote required for election.

Under the constitution, the new Congress, scheduled to convene July 28, is to choose a president from among the three leading men in the presidential race. The military has charged Haya de la Torre got his big vote through fraud.

Prado's resistance to the military stems in part from the support APRA gave him in the 1956 presidential race. In return, Prado legalized the party and allowed Haya de la Torre to return from exile.

The second and third finishers in the presidential race were Fernando Belaunde Terry of the Popular Action party, a leftist who received but did not solicit Communist support, and Gen. Manuel Odria, former dictator who struck a moderate pose during the campaign.

The military has raised no objection to either Belaunde or Odria, but there has been speculation that the armed forces are prepared to nullify the elections, dissolve the new parliament and rule by decree until they decide to call new elections.

Twenty - nine units are lined up for the fireman's parade Aug. 3, it was reported. There are 12 exhibitors entered for the home show to be held during carnival week. Anyone wishing space is to contact Dennis McKenzie, a fireman.

John Thompson, vice president, reported that all firemen are selling advance tickets for carnival rides at a lower price than they can be purchased during the event.

A fund drive for a new truck is continuing. Residents not contacted are to give donations to firemen. Dale Horger, president, has returned from a hospital and is recuperating at home.

The roof of the fire hall has been resurfaced with tar by Keith Clark, Paul Miller, Dick Wright, Bob McCormick and Paul Knox.

Buses Bought For Retarded School Pupils

LISBON — Children going to the Retarded Children's School at Elkton in September will ride in four new, nine-passenger buses ordered Monday by county commissioners.

The contract for the Chevrolet Greenbrier models went to the Columbiana Motor Co. at Columbiana on a bid of $8,340, the lowest of eight.

There was no trade-in. Station wagons used previously will be auctioned off by the school's Advisory Council, since they were donated or purchased before the school came under control of the County Welfare Department.

Delivery of the new buses was requested by Aug. 20. They will be Omaha orange in color—similar to other school buses.

Funds for the purchase come from a two-tenths of a mill levy which county voters passed in May. Lettering of the buses will be done after delivery.

Commissioners made a $300 grant to St. Clair Township trustees for road maintenance and authorized payment of $333.40 to the East Liverpool Memorial Association for Memorial Day expenses.

The association includes nine groups — American Legion Post 4 and its auxiliary, American Legion Post 374, VFW Post 66, Daughters of American Council 287, Gold Star Mothers, Marine Corps League auxiliary, Navy Mothers Club 197 and Ladies of the GAR.

Service groups have until July 29 to apply for help on Memorial Day expenses. The county will pay up to $50 to each organization, providing it submits paid bills.

The Sports Bench

By BOB DUFFY
Sports Editor

Rollins Didn't Dream Of Star Game

"This is quite an honor," red-haired Rich Rollins said as he stood in the American League dugout at Washington's plush new $24-million stadium prior to last week's All-Star baseball game.

In April, the All-Star game was probably the last thought to enter Rich's mind for he was a struggling to be the third baseman for the Minnesota Twins.

But last Tuesday he was the starting third sacker for the American League as he lined up with the other All-Stars down the base lines at D.C. Stadium. In fact, Rich was the leading vote getter in the AL.

A year ago, Rollins labored for part of the season at Charlotte in the Sally League. He was brought up to the Twins long enough to knock him out of a chance for "rookie of the year honors" for the present season.

As Rollins explained, I only played in 13 games for the Twins last year but spent more than 45 days with the club as an active player. Since he passed the 45-day limit, he cannot qualify for rookie honors this season.

Rollins, like Bernie Allen, got hot in spring training and both were the big surprises for the also surprising Twins. Rollins hit and fielded everything in sight at the Twins training base, then continued his role as a slugger with a batting average which places him near the top in the American League. He carried a .320 average into the all-star game.

'Allen Will Surprise Them' . . .

AND what about his roommate, Bernie Allen. "Bernie is hitting the ball good now, he got off to such a bad start that it was tough to overcome."

"I am sure Bernie will surprise a lot of people, it may not be this season, but in the next few years he should be a great one," Rollins said.

THE TWINS went into the All-Star break 4½ games behind in the American League race. Rollins feels the club "will get hot again. For the last week or so everything we did was wrong", the young slugger added.

CASEY STENGEL got into the act when the veteran Richie Ashburn, outfielder for the New York Mets, told a group of reporters sitting around the National League dugout: "Casey told me he gave me the easiest job in baseball by moving me to right field at the Polo Grounds. All you have to do Casey said is turn around and watch the balls go into the stands."

BASEBALL men say Chavez Ravine in Los Angeles is the last word in ball parks, but D.C. Stadium must run a photo finish second. They have thought of everything and it's true there isn't a pole in the place to block one customer's vision.

LOOK for the Major Leagues either to abolish the second all-star game or cut the season to 153 games from the 162 they now play. The players and club owners were bargaining during the All-Star break.

Potters Losing Top Line Coach . . .

ELHS has lost an outstanding line coach from its varsity football staff. Nunzio Polichene submitted his resignation to the Board of Education Monday.

Polichene resigned to accept a teaching post at Ravenna High School, his home town. He will not know until later this week whether or not he will take an assistant coaching job at Ravenna. He is planning to go strictly into administrative work.

The former Kent State University gridder has served at ELHS four seasons, three under Lou Venditti and one under present coach Bob Hedmond.

Polichene's resignation leaves three coaching jobs open in the East Liverpool system. They include the head football job at East Junior High and an assistant's post at Westgate.

In response to a question, Supt. Ralph W. Betts explained the deadline for resignations was July 10 but added, "We have never kept anyone from taking another job."

Betts said he was aware Polichene was seeking another job and said the assistant coach contacted him a few minutes after learning Friday night he had received the Ravenna appointment.

There Is A Reason For It . . .

IN CASE anybody wants to know, the Minnesota Twins have a reason for not sending Rich Ashcroft into Minor League baseball this summer.

Ray Holton, the Twins scout who signed the former South Side athlete, explained that the other players in the minors would be too far ahead of Rich at this time, having more than three months of baseball under their belts.

Ashcroft didn't even get the benefit of college baseball at the University of Wichita because that school did not have the sport this past spring. Actually, he has only played about a month of baseball and hasn't been playing everyday, and that is what it takes.

We feel Ashcroft has the equipment to make it in baseball. He hits a long ball and his fielding, arm and speed are average. Rich has always dreamed of a career in baseball, now he has been given the opportunity besides about $8,000 in cold cash.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

GEORGE Hale, a former All-Ohio halfback at ELHS, has been drafted by the Wheeling Ironmen of the United Football League. Wheeling also drafted Ivan Toncic and four others off the now defunct Akron Pros team and will attempt to sign all six players before practice starts next month.

Hale was Akron's No. 1 fullback last season, besides playing several other positions, going both ways.

Logan's Slam Gives Pirates 5-2 Win

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roberto Clemente thought he should have been voted the National League's most valuable player two years ago when he helped Pittsburgh win the pennant by batting .314. But Pirate shortstop Dick Groat, who won the batting title with .325, got the award.

Clemente thought he should have received the award last year when he led the league with a .351 batting average. But the Pirates finished sixth and Frank Robinson of the pennant-winning Cincinnati Reds gained the honor.

So this year Clemente figures the only chance he has to win that coveted title is for him to cop the batting title again and Pittsburgh to win the pennant. Both Roberto and the Pirates are making a determined bid to do just that.

Giants Nip Mets, 3-2; Reds Beaten

With Clemente hitting safely in his 14th consecutive game, and utility infielder Johnny Logan coming through with a grand slam homer, the Pirates defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-2 Monday night to inch within four games of the league leading Los Angeles Dodgers. It was Pittsburgh's 17th victory in their last 21 games.

The second place San Francisco Giants edged out the New York Mets 3-2 to narrow the Dodgers' margin to two games while the Milwaukee Braves, behind the six-hit pitching of southpaw Bob Hendley, blanked the Cincinnati Reds 3-0.

Rain forced the postponement of a Chicago Cub-Colt game scheduled at Houston. The Dodgers and the Philadelphia Phils were not scheduled.

Clemente's hit Monday figured prominently in the Pirates' winning rally. Ray Sadecki of the Cards held a 2-1 lead when Groat opened the sixth with a walk and Clemente singled. After Dick Stuart flied out, Bob Skinner walked and Logan cleaned the bases with a homer, his first extra base hit of the season. The blast enabled Al McBean to register his fourth straight and tenth victory of the season.

Stan Musial of the Cards had three for three, giving him six of the last seven.

Bob Garibaldi, San Francisco's $135,000 bonus pitcher, snuffed out a ninth inning rally by the Mets with one pitch to help the Giants win the rubber match of the three-game series.

Don Larsen, the second Giant pitcher, had walked the first two Mets in the ninth. Stu Miller came in, retired the next two batters, but gave up a run-scoring single to Richie Ashburn, cutting the Giants' lead to 3-2.

Garibaldi, the 20-year-old right-hander from Santa Clara who donned a Giant uniform for the first time Sunday, replaced Miller and induced Rod Kanehl to hit his first pitch to Willie Mays in center field to end the game.

Jack Sanford gained his 11th victory for the Giants, made possible in the top of the ninth when pinch-runner Manny Mota scored on Bob Miller's second wild pitch of the inning. Roger Craig, the starter, was charged with his 13th defeat.

Home runs by Joe Adcock and Roy McMillan supported Henley's masterful pitching, which resulted in his sixth triumph for the Braves. Both homers—McMillan's came with one on—were at the expense of Joey Jay, who had beaten the Braves five straight times since traded to the Reds last year for McMillan. It was Jay's ninth defeat. He has won 12.

Nonpareil Club Receives OK For Work At Stadium

The Blue and White Nonpareil Club received permission from the Board of Education Monday night to continue its program of stadium improvements.

The present bathroom will be converted by the same method into a combination room for the Potters, Dawson explained.

Lucas, Pipers Come To Agreement On New Contract Over NBA Issue

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Jerry Lucas has ended the suspense. He says he's going to play full time for the Cleveland Pipers of the National Basketball Association.

Even before the three-time All-America wound up his fabulous career at Ohio State in March, a tremendous guessing game had been in progress. Lucas said he didn't want to play professionally.

Few believed him. The Pipers, then in the American Basketball League, and the NBA's Cincinnati Royals, drafted the 6-foot-8 ace.

Lucas chose the Pipers over the Royals and signed a two-year contract on May 17 for $10,000 annually, plus an investment portfolio worth another $40,000.

The Pipers were awarded a franchise in the NBA a week ago. That caused complications involving Lucas, who had signed with the Pipers because of the shorter ABL schedule. He said it permitted him to continue his education. Lucas said his contract was for playing in the ABL, not the NBA.

Lucas met over the weekend with George Steinbrenner, president of the Pipers, who said Monday night Lucas had agreed on a new two-year contract.

In Columbus, Lucas said he signed Sunday night, adding that the new agreement "is a larger contract, one which is agreeable to both parties."

Steinbrenner said the new contract is "basically the same as the old one." He said money was not a consideration in getting Lucas' signature.

"He's a funny kid," said Steinbrenner. "Money is not that important to him. What he's interested in are his education and job considerations—what he can do when he's finished playing."

Lucas was given the option of playing with the Pipers only on weekends at the start while completing his studies at Ohio State.

"Jerry told me he's going to finish school at Ohio State in the spring quarter and go to graduate school in the summer. He'll be with us right from the beginning and that's wonderful news."

Lucas, now attending summer sessions at Ohio State, will complete his course Aug. 24 and move to Cleveland a few days later. He still will have one term left for his degree after the summer courses.

Asked if he anticipated any trouble with his legs while playing the full season in the rugged NBA, Lucas said:

"I've never had any serious trouble in this respect once I have reached the proper condition, and I plan to start working out soon three or four times a week."

Old Movies Are Susan's Drama Lessons

Hal Humphrey

Susan, who works hard at an acting career, spends several hours a week watching old movies on TV and says she has learned as much or more this way than from going to drama classes.

"I never miss a Greta Garbo picture," Susan says. "She has big feet, a terrible posture and a strange way of speaking. But she is so completely natural, even in roles not natural for her type, that all of those things are forgotten.

"There is a lot one can learn from Ginger Rogers, whom I love to watch, too. She didn't sing or dance particularly well in her pictures, but I'm sure hardly anyone noticed, because she has a kind of innate self - confidence which let her get away with it. If I can build up that much confidence, I might try singing and dancing myself."

SUSAN ACCEPTED a small part in John Huston's "Freud," which she just completed. In it she plays Montgomery Clift's wife. Most actresses would have turned it down and waited for that big part.

"I learned that from TV, too. Watching people like Ava Gardner in an old Andy Hardy picture convinced me it is more important to have a good big part than a big role which isn't so good," says Susan.

In a play which closed before it got to New York, Susan was panned by one critic for having a voice which he found unappealing. She considered voice coaching, suicide and any number of other cures.

"Then I began watching TV," she recalls, "and listened to Lauren Bacall, Jean Arthur and Patricia Neal. I'm sure at one time or another they were advised to do something about their voices, but they stayed with what they had and became distinctive because of their voices.

"I think the old movies prove that if something is natural to you, then stay with it."

CAROLE LOMBARD, Bette Davis, Errol Flynn, John Barrymore, Joan Bennett, Myrna Loy and Humphrey Bogart are all examples of what Susan believes was a school of thought which believed in letting one's own personality come through unfettered by studied techniques of acting.

"Popularity in those days," she adds, "wtsn't built on being like someone else. There was no one like Lombard or Bette Davis. Today, producers seem to be always looking for someone who looks or acts like somebody else they know, but can't get. There wasn't so much stock put on looks, as there is today, either."

If this sounds as if Susan is bemoaning the passing of the "good ol' days," she means it to.

"I really do wish I had been an actress 20 or 30 years ago. It was especially better for women then, because they got better stories, and the men were more dashing. And it's true that there was more glamour about movie making then. The public didn't know everything about the stars.

"Did you read that magazine piece about Sandra Dee and her thoughts as she and Bobby Darin rode to the hospital where she was about to have her baby?"

I READ IT, all right, and will match the pains I had with those of Sandra's any day.

Susan was to be married next month, to actor George Hamilton It was called off, but with no accompanying stories about her innermost sensations.

So, she will continue to watch old movies on TV and learn to become a better actress.

Bringing Up A Family

City Child Can Learn Conservation

When I left the farm in my late teens I had not seen or heard the words soil conservation. But I learned during those early years a good deal about saving the soil. Our farm had some hilly fields. Through them ran a brook and near by them some larger streams. After heavy rains this brook and these streams suddenly swelled with thickly muddied water and they often overran their banks, sometimes doing great damage with their floods. I soon learned that some streams were more muddy than others after a heavy rain, and noticed that those which drained plowed fields were more muddy than those which drained grassy fields or land covered with trees or bushes. Indeed, some small branches of streams running into larger ones were clear and not muddy.

Dr. Garry Meyers

AFTER A LASHING rain there often were many deep gutters on the sloping parts of the fields which had been plowed lately, or had no grass, bushes, trees or plants.

Early I learned that no gutters were made by rains in the sod-covered fields; that when any sloping field was plowed up two or more years in succession it had more and more gutters and deeper ones.

Sometimes I helped my father put straw or hay or branches, even stones, in these gutters so as to check their growing deeper or to hold the soil back on which grass and other plants might grow.

When we put branches of bushes or trees into these gutters, I learned to put them with the top forward so they would best catch the soil and hold it.

When I was big enough to plow, my father showed me how to turn the plowshare out on coming to a gutter so the grass growing in it, or on its banks, might stay there, sometimes growing so well that some of these gutters disappeared. I learned as a lad the alphabet of soil conservation, and not out of books.

MANY CHILDREN of our nation also might learn from everyday experience this useful information, especially if they live in or near areas where the ground is not wholly flat.

Some children living in large cities may not learn this so easily, though they may see evidence of erosion from water in a back yard, in a park or in outlying areas.

Consider how many children in suburbs might learn to check erosion in a garden, drive or lawn where one or more tiny gullies have started.

Wherever you live, if you motor with your children this summer, you may easily call to their attention all sorts of erosion by water and the many ways of checking this erosion; the significance of plowing or not plowing land, of cutting forests or planting trees. You might even see with your child some flood control projects.

Any city child may thus collect a vast deal of information about soil conservation on a motor trip with his family.

MOST TEACHERS, even in the elementary grades, might, in like manner, gain a rich abundance of wisdom on soil conservation which they could make usefully interesting to their children and thus enrich the limited information on this subject in most schoolbooks.

Algeria Military Leaders Confer Secretly In Hills

ALGIERS (AP)—Algeria's military leaders met secretly in the mountains south of Algiers today to seek a way to reconcile the new nation's quarreling leaders.

Leaders of the guerrilla forces in the interior wilayas—zones—and of the regular army convened in an emergency "Council of Wilayas." A large majority of the officers taking part were known to sympathize with dissident Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella in his fight to displace moderate Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda.

The military's recommendations, expected within 48 hours, will almost certainly include a demand for a meeting of the 72-member National Council of the Algerian Revolution (CNRA), on which Ben Bella also has a majority.

Difficulties were growing for Premier Ben Khedda, faced with defection and doubts in his own ranks, the determined opposition of the 45,000-strong regular army and the Algerian public's growing impatience.

The exact location of the wilaya council meeting was unknown.

Ex-Parishoners Plan Church For Pacifist Pastor

CINCINNATI (AP)—Some of the Rev. Maurice McCrackin's former parishioners are planning to start a new church for the controversial pacifist clergyman.

McCrackin, who refuses to pay income tax because he says part of the money is spent for warlike purposes, has been suspended by the Presbytery of Cincinnati. Last month, the pulpit at his West Cincinnati-St. Barnabas Church was declared vacant.

U.S. Fowler, spokesman for a group consisting largely of former members of the church, said Monday a new church will be organized at a meeting Sunday.

McCrackin said he has accepted the call to be minister of the new church.

Actress Cuts Hand Doing Drunk Scene

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Barbara Stanwyck cut her hand doing a drunk scene for a television film Monday.

The script called for her to brush a glass off a bar. Instead, the studio reported, the actress slammed her fist down on the glass, shattering it.

Yanks Extend Lead To 3½; LA Trimmed

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just as if they didn't have enough going their way to start with, the American League leading New York Yankees also have the schedule working for them.

The Yankees, slowly moving away from the pack, owe their expanding lead to a dominance over the weaker clubs in the league. What's more, the leaders have more games remaining with the lower three teams than their principal rivals for the No. 1 spot, Los Angeles and Cleveland, now tied for second.

Against Boston, Kansas City and Washington, the last three teams in the standings, New York has a 17-4, .810 record. Los Angeles is 25-11, .694 and Cleveland is 18-12 .600.

Which means the Yanks not only beat those three more often, they also have more remaining with them. New York has 33 games left, Los Angeles 18 and Cleveland 24 with the also-rans. This could be indicative of a number of things, one of them being that the Yanks may be a little hard to catch.

New York used that beat-the-weak-teams formula Monday to push its lead to 3½ games, beating Kansas City 3-1. Los Angeles slipped back to a tie for second with idle Cleveland when Washington's Don Rudolph threw a four-hitter and beat the Angels 4-1 in the only other American League game scheduled.

The Yankee triumph over Kansas City was their eighth in 10 games with the A's this season and their fourth straight. Kansas City now has lost six in a row.

A couple of errors by Billy Consolo and Whitey Ford's pitching were the key factors as the Yanks expanded their lead to its widest margin of the season.

A Consolo miscue in the second inning paved the way for two unearned New York runs, while Ford—8-5—had a five-hit shutout going into the ninth before he tired and had to have help from Jim Bouton.

Bob Johnson drove in three runs with a homer and a single in support of Rudolph's quick triumph over Los Angeles. The contest took only an hour and 32 minutes to complete, the fastest of the season and one of the fastest in recent years.

Johnson broke the scoreless duel with his solo homer in the fourth and put it out of reach with a bases-loaded single in the seventh.

Lawmen Fall To Friendly Bowling, 3-1

The Lawyers held a 1-0 lead up until the sixth inning when the roof fell in as the Bowlers came up with all their runs in that inning. The victory was the first in seven starts for the Bowlers.

Each team collected six hits but Denny Horger proved to be stronger in the late innings as he picked up the pitching victory for the Bowlers. He fanned eight batters.

Ron Burns started for the Lawmen but was relieved by Tom Stepien who was checked with the defeat.

Six different players singled for the winners while Denny Burke and Burns stroked two hits each for the losers. Bob Woods also had a triple in a losing cause.

After New Cumberland Talks

Waterford Issues Settled, Governor's Aide Declares

CHARLESTON (AP) — All differences, "real or imaginary," between certain Hancock County public officials and Waterford Park have been settled, Curtis B. Trent Jr. said Monday night.

Trent, Gov. Barron's executive assistant, held another long session at the Hancock courthouse in New Cumberland yesterday with President James Edwards of Waterford Park, former sheriff Richard Wright and others.

Wright now is Democratic chairman in Hancock County. Trent said that various other county officials and Chairman Eugene M. Frederick of the State Racing Commission were present.

A controversy involving Edwards, Wright and others grew to major proportions about two weeks ago, with Edwards contending at one point that politicians were trying to dictate the horse tracks' operational policy.

Counter-charges by Wright were followed by a demand that the Racing Commission and Barron investigate employment practices at the track to determine whether a state law requiring that 80 per cent of the workers be West Virginians was being observed.

Trent met with Wright, Edwards and others in the governor's office here last Thursday. After almost a day-long session, he expressed hope that the controversy could be resolved.

After returning to Charleston, Trent said that Monday's meeting, "though stormy at times, covered all the problems that confronted the county officials as a direct result of the existence of the track in Hancock; as well as the problems which the racetrack faces in daily operation as a licensees of the state."

Trent said all parties "now have a better understanding of the overall situation and a greater respect for the position of the others."

He added that all parties should be complimented "for their efforts to settle mutual problems." He said such efforts "were culminated in an air of cordiality and complete cooperation."

4th Straight Win Recorded By Billiards

The "golden arm" of Franny Wise hurled the American Billiards team to its fourth straight victory in the Slow Pitch League Monday at Thompson Park with a close 5-4 decision over Klondyke.

In the other contest, the Ridge Runners went on a hitting spree to rout the Finishing Mill, 15-5.

Wise has now won all four decisions for the league-leading Billiards. John Fisher, fleet footed leftfielder for the Billiard "ten," pounded out three hits for the leaders.

Klondyke, trailing 5-1 going into the last of the seventh, gave the Billiards a scare with a four-run uprising which included a home run by Augue Comfort. Butch McElhaney was the leading hitter for Klondyke with two safeties. Jack Canton was the losing hurler.

John Nott banged a home run and Johnson went three-for-three to lead the Ridge Runners to their one-sided decision. The victory was the second in four games for the Runners. Six and M. Schwartz had perfect four-for-four appearances for the Finishing Mill. Chuck Bowers was the winning pitcher while Emerson Ludwig was checked with the loss.

Designers Reversing On Men's Fashions

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Having gone about as far as they could go in one direction, designers of men's clothing have started the other way.

The International Association of Clothing Designers noted during a convention here that suits were narrowed down "to the absolute limit" about five years ago.

Now, a spokesman said, "men's fashions have again started to fill out to proportions that are mansized without being oversized."

U.S. Incomes, Output Reach Record Highs

WASHINGTON (AP)— Personal incomes of Americans and the nation's industrial production advanced in June to record highs.

But the income gains were only half as great as in the previous month. Industrial production rose so slightly as to remain almost on dead center.

The two key economic indicators—expected to be scrutinized closely by President Kennedy as he considers seeking an economy-spurring tax cut this year—were disclosed Monday.

The Commerce Department said personal incomes rose $700 million in June to a record annual rate of $440.4 billion, an increase of $24 billion over June 1961. But the increase was only about half as big as the one registered in May and was substantially smaller than the advances made earlier this year.

The Federal Reserve Board said that industrial production in June struggled upward to a record 117.8 per cent of the 1957 level compared with 117.5 per cent in May. Some economists expressed surprise that it hadn't declined in the face of the stock market plunge and a strike which cut sharply into auto production.

The increase was less than half that recorded in May, and was so small the board said: "Most measures of business activity changed little in June."

An 8 per cent decrease in auto production, attributable mostly to a strike at the Ford Motor Co., parts plant at Walton Hills, Ohio, which led to an assembly line shutdown of several days.

An 8 per cent decline in iron and steel production following a 14 per cent drop in May.

Scouts Near End Of Camping Trip In New Mexico

LISBON — Twenty-two Boy Scouts and Explorers from troops of the Columbiana Council are completing a great adventure—hiking and camping in the rugged mountains on Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimarron, N. M.

Only official word from the party was a troop letter mailed after the arrival at Philmont.

Don Theiss of Chester, the assistant scoutmaster and official scribe for the trip, said they traveled through seven states and had a tour of Chicago during a stop-over.

Sunday religious services on the train were conducted by scouts with the God and Country Award. The party had an orientation program with the Philmont ranger before starting the trek into the mountains with burros.

Thief Cleans Out

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — This thief made a clean getaway. Police say evidence indicated a person who broke into a home here and stole a television set and other household goods took a bath before leaving the premises.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

9-Year-Old Wins Calorie Count Game

Once upon a time there was a 9-year-old who tipped the scales at 100 pounds plus. How much plus she asked her mother to keep a secret, for it amounted to an oversize Thanksgiving turkey.

Ida Jean Kain

A half a year later, this same young lady is 27 pounds lighter and proud to tell her weight. She has changed from an inactive fatty, who didn't want to go near the playground, into a lovely young miss who leads the others in active games.

This is a heartwarming success story, so we'll let her mother tell it. . . She wrote in the hopes of helping other overweight youngsters to reduce.

"I thought you would like to know how our daughter just-turned-nine is managing to lose weight. At 118½ pounds, Kay was hungry all the time.

"OUR DOCTOR prescribed an appetite curber to be used only at the start. We bought her a complete calorie chart and Kay began her own game of calorie countdown."

The "game way" to reduce proved to be the challenge needed. It was Kay's own decision whether or not she was entitled to a treat. Calorie arithmetic took the guess work, the nagging and the boredom out of the slim-down program.

Her mother said: "Without the calorie game I don't believe we could have succeeded. Kay takes the responsibility, looking up the amounts herself. The score has been around 1,200 a day. She keeps the score on all calories. By late afternoon she begins adding up to see if she can have desert or some treat she might want. Prior to the calorie countdown game, all reducing efforts had ended in unpleasant words and failure."

About the meals: "We did not buy a lot of dieting extras. The few things we buy especially for her are skim milk, low calorie ice cream, low calorie topping. The rest of her diet is smaller servings of the foods on our menu. It is surprising how delicious a bowl of fruit with its moderate calorie score looks to her and she now chooses fruit in preference to candy or cake," her mother reported.

Calorie counting may be a chore to bored grownups, but to an imaginative youngster it can be an adventure that helps her to get what she wants. This young lady learned which foods are too fattening for her calorie budget and which are the calorie bargains. In this process she changed her food habits. . .and became a winner!

SLIM FOOD PATTERN

Breakfast

Lunch

Grilled cheese sandwich—bread, 1 slice, cheese, 1 slice (1 oz.), relish (melt under broiler); sliced tomato; glass of skim milk, fruit choice; 2 plums or 1 ripe peach.

Dinner

Swordfish, baked - liberal serving with lemon butter, 1 tsp. butter, plus lemon juice; vegetable choice: squash, wax beans or carrots; new potato, 1, glass of skim milk, wedge of melon.

Total calories for the day—1270.

Send a stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for "Choose To Lose Diet" and "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Rollins Didn't Dream Of Star Game

"This is quite an honor," red-haired Rich Rollins said as he stood in the American League dugout at Washington's plush new $24-million stadium prior to last week's All-Star baseball game.

In April, the All-Star game was probably the last thought to enter Rich's mind for he was a struggling to be the third baseman for the Minnesota Twins.

But last Tuesday he was the starting third sacker for the American League as he lined up with the other All-Stars down the base lines at D.C. Stadium. In fact, Rich was the leading vote getter in the AL.

A year ago, Rollins labored for part of the season at Charlotte in the Sally League. He was brought up to the Twins long enough to knock him out of a chance for "rookie of the year honors" for the present season.

As Rollins explained, I only played in 13 games for the Twins last year but spent more than 45 days with the club as an active player. Since he passed the 45-day limit, he cannot qualify for rookie honors this season.

Rollins, like Bernie Allen, got hot in spring training and both were the big surprises for the also surprising Twins. Rollins hit and fielded everything in sight at the Twins training base, then continued his role as a slugger with a batting average which places him near the top in the American League. He carried a .320 average into the all-star game.

'Allen Will Surprise Them' . . .

AND what about his roommate, Bernie Allen. "Bernie is hitting the ball good now, he got off to such a bad start that it was tough to overcome."

"I am sure Bernie will surprise a lot of people, it may not be this season, but in the next few years he should be a great one," Rollins said.

THE TWINS went into the All-Star break 4½ games behind in the American League race. Rollins feels the club "will get hot again. For the last week or so everything we did was wrong", the young slugger added.

—:—

MEMBERS of the Los Angeles Angels wear blue hats with red bills with the blue trimmed around the top with a gold halo.

—:—

CASEY STENGEL got into the act when the veteran Richie Ashburn, outfielder for the New York Mets, told a group of reporters sitting around the National League dugout: "Casey told me he gave me the easiest job in baseball by moving me to right field at the Polo Grounds. All you have to do Casey said is turn around and watch the balls go into the stands."

BASEBALL men say Chavez Ravine in Los Angeles is the last word in ball parks, but D.C. Stadium must run a photo finish second. They have thought of everything and it's true there isn't a pole in the place to block one customer's vision.

—:—

LOOK for the Major Leagues either to abolish the second all-star game or cut the season to 153 games from the 162 they now play. The players and club owners were bargaining during the All-Star break.

Potters Losing Top Line Coach . . .

ELHS has lost an outstanding line coach from its varsity football staff. Nunzio Polichene submitted his resignation to the Board of Education Monday.

Polichene resigned to accept a teaching post at Ravenna High School, his home town. He will not know until later this week whether or not he will take an assistant coaching job at Ravenna. He is planning to go strictly into administrative work.

The former Kent State University gridder has served at ELHS four seasons, three under Lou Venditti and one under present coach Bob Hedmond.

Polichene's resignation leaves three coaching jobs open in the East Liverpool system. They include the head football job at East Junior High and an assistant's post at Westgate.

In response to a question, Supt. Ralph W. Betts explained the deadline for resignations was July 10 but added, "We have never kept anyone from taking another job."

Betts said he was aware Polichene was seeking another job and said the assistant coach contacted him a few minutes after learning Friday night he had received the Ravenna appointment.

There Is A Reason For It . . .

IN CASE anybody wants to know, the Minnesota Twins have a reason for not sending Rich Ashcroft into Minor League baseball this summer.

Ray Holton, the Twins scout who signed the former South Side athlete, explained that the other players in the minors would be too far ahead of Rich at this time, having more than three months of baseball under their belts.

Ashcroft didn't even get the benefit of college baseball at the University of Wichita because that school did not have the sport this past spring. Actually, he has only played about a month of baseball and hasn't been playing everyday, and that is what it takes.

We feel Ashcroft has the equipment to make it in baseball. He hits a long ball and his fielding, arm and speed are average. Rich has always dreamed of a career in baseball, now he has been given the opportunity besides about $8,000 in cold cash.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

GEORGE Hale, a former All-Ohio halfback at ELHS, has been drafted by the Wheeling Ironmen of the United Football League. Wheeling also drafted Ivan Toncic and four others off the now defunct Akron Pros team and will attempt to sign all six players before practice starts next month.

Hale was Akron's No. 1 fullback last season, besides playing several other positions, going both ways.

Logan's Slam Gives Pirates 5-2 Win

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roberto Clemente thought he should have been voted the National League's most valuable player two years ago when he helped Pittsburgh win the pennant by batting .314. But Pirate shortstop Dick Groat, who won the batting title with .325, got the award.

Clemente thought he should have received the award last year when he led the league with a .351 batting average. But the Pirates finished sixth and Frank Robinson of the pennant-winning Cincinnati Reds gained the honor.

So this year Clemente figures the only chance he has to win that coveted title is for him to cop the batting title again and Pittsburgh to win the pennant. Both Roberto and the Pirates are making a determined bid to do just that.

Giants Nip Mets, 3-2; Reds Beaten

With Clemente hitting safely in his 14th consecutive game, and utility infielder Johnny Logan coming through with a grand slam homer, the Pirates defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-2 Monday night to inch within four games of the league leading Los Angeles Dodgers. It was Pittsburgh's 17th victory in their last 21 games.

The second place San Francisco Giants edged out the New York Mets 3-2 to narrow the Dodgers' margin to two games while the Milwaukee Braves, behind the six-hit pitching of southpaw Bob Hendley, blanked the Cincinnati Reds 3-0.

Rain forced the postponement of a Chicago Cub-Colt game scheduled at Houston. The Dodgers and the Philadelphia Phils were not scheduled.

Clemente's hit Monday figured prominently in the Pirates' winning rally. Ray Sadecki of the Cards held a 2-1 lead when Groat opened the sixth with a walk and Clemente singled. After Dick Stuart flied out, Bob Skinner walked and Logan cleaned the bases with a homer, his first extra base hit of the season. The blast enabled Al McBean to register his fourth straight and tenth victory of the season.

Bob Garibaldi, San Francisco's $135,000 bonus pitcher, snuffed out a ninth inning rally by the Mets with one pitch to help the Giants win the rubber match of the three-game series.

Don Larsen, the second Giant pitcher, had walked the first two Mets in the ninth. Stu Miller came in, retired the next two batters, but gave up a run-scoring single to Richie Ashburn, cutting the Giants' lead to 3-2.

Jack Sanford gained his 11th victory for the Giants, made possible in the top of the ninth when pinch-runner Manny Mota scored on Bob Miller's second wild pitch of the inning. Roger Craig, the starter, was charged with his 13th defeat.

Home runs by Joe Adcock and Roy McMillan supported Henley's masterful pitching, which resulted in his sixth triumph for the Braves. Both homers—McMillan's came with one on—were at the expense of Joey Jay, who had beaten the Braves five straight times since traded to the Reds last year for McMillan. It was Jay's ninth defeat. He has won 12.

Wolfe Named To Head Junior High Cage Post

Harry Wolfe, an assistant for six years, was elevated to the head basketball post at East Junior High School, the East Liverpool Board of Education announced Monday night.

Wolfe, 35, succeeds Dom Cascio, who resigned the position several months ago. Wolfe, a 1945 graduate of East Liverpool High School, served as an assistant for four years under Cascio and two before that under Ed Strauss in both basketball and football.

Married, Wolfe has three children and is a graduate of Geneva College and the University of Pittsburgh.

Nonpareil Club Receives OK For Work At Stadium

The Blue and White Nonpareil Club received permission from the Board of Education Monday night to continue its program of stadium improvements.

Frank C. Dawson, spokesman for the club, said the club plans to subdivide the main shower room with a six-inch concrete block walls into a combination shower and dressing room for visiting teams.

The present bathroom will be converted by the same method into a combination room for the Potters, Dawson explained.

Dawson pointed out in the past both the home and visiting teams have been compelled to use the same facilities.

Lucas, Pipers Come To Agreement On New Contract Over NBA Issue

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Jerry Lucas has ended the suspense. He says he's going to play full time for the Cleveland Pipers of the National Basketball Association.

Even before the three-time All-America wound up his fabulous career at Ohio State in March, a tremendous guessing game had been in progress. Lucas said he didn't want to play professionally.

Few believed him. The Pipers, then in the American Basketball League, and the NBA's Cincinnati Royals, drafted the 6-foot-8 ace.

Lucas chose the Pipers over the Royals and signed a two-year contract on May 17 for $10,000 annually, plus an investment portfolio worth another $40,000.

The Pipers were awarded a franchise in the NBA a week ago. That caused complications involving Lucas, who had signed with the Pipers because of the shorter ABL schedule. He said it permitted him to continue his education. Lucas said his contract was for playing in the ABL, not the NBA.

Lucas met over the weekend with George Steinbrenner, president of the Pipers, who said Monday night Lucas had agreed on a new two-year contract.

In Columbus, Lucas said he signed Sunday night, adding that the new agreement "is a larger contract, one which is agreeable to both parties."

Steinbrenner said the new contract is "basically the same as the old one." He said money was not a consideration in getting Lucas' signature.

"He's a funny kid," said Steinbrenner. "Money is not that important to him. What he's interested in are his education and job considerations—what he can do when he's finished playing."

Lucas was given the option of playing with the Pipers only on weekends at the start while completing his studies at Ohio State.

"Jerry told me he's going to finish school at Ohio State in the spring quarter and go to graduate school in the summer. He'll be with us right from the beginning and that's wonderful news."

Lucas, now attending summer sessions at Ohio State, will complete his course Aug. 24 and move to Cleveland a few days later. He still will have one term left for his degree after the summer courses.

Asked if he anticipated any trouble with his legs while playing the full season in the rugged NBA, Lucas said:

"I've never had any serious trouble in this respect once I have reached the proper condition, and I plan to start working out soon three or four times a week."

Free Tennis Clinic Is Set Wednesday

A free tennis clinic, sponsored by the East Liverpool Tennis Club through the courtesy of the Wilson Sporting Goods Co., will be held Wednesday beginning at 6 p. m. at the Thompson Park courts.

Ralph Mason Sr., his son and Joe Brown will be in charge of the clinic.

Stacey Eliminated In Tennis Tournament

Laurin Stacey, East Liverpool's only survivor in the Ellwood City Tennis Tournament, bowed Monday to Jim Melville of Ellwood City, 6-0 and 6-1, in a quarter-finals match.

Joe Brown is the No. 1 player on the Pitt University tennis squad. He is rated the No. 2 player in the Pittsburgh district and is the defending champion of the men's singles competition sponsored here each year by the local Lions Club.

Ralph Mason Jr., is the No. 3 player on the Pitt squad. He is rated as one of the top 10 players in the Pittsburgh area.

Yanks Extend Lead To 3½; LA Trimmed

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just as if they didn't have enough going their way to start with, the American League leading New York Yankees also have the schedule working for them.

The Yankees, slowly moving away from the pack, owe their expanding lead to a dominance over the weaker clubs in the league. What's more, the leaders have more games remaining with the lower three teams than their principal rivals for the No. 1 spot, Los Angeles and Cleveland, now tied for second.

Against Boston, Kansas City and Washington, the last three teams in the standings, New York has a 17-4, .810 record. Los Angeles is 25-11, .694 and Cleveland is 18-12 .600.

Which means the Yanks not only beat those three more often, they also have more remaining with them. New York has 33 games left, Los Angeles 18 and Cleveland 24 with the also-rans. This could be indicative of a number of things, one of them being that the Yanks may be a little hard to catch.

New York used that beat-the-weak-teams formula Monday to push its lead to 3½ games, beating Kansas City 3-1. Los Angeles slipped back to a tie for second with idle Cleveland when Washington's Don Rudolph threw a four-hitter and beat the Angels 4-1 in the only other American League game scheduled.

The Yankee triumph over Kansas City was their eighth in 10 games with the A's this season and their fourth straight. Kansas City now has lost six in a row.

A couple of errors by Billy Consolo and Whitey Ford's pitching were the key factors as the Yanks expanded their lead to its widest margin of the season.

A Consolo miscue in the second inning paved the way for two unearned New York runs, while Ford—8-5—had a five-hit shutout going into the ninth before he tired and had to have help from Jim Bouton.

Bob Johnson drove in three runs with a homer and a single in support of Rudolph's quick triumph over Los Angeles. The contest took only an hour and 32 minutes to complete, the fastest of the season and one of the fastest in recent years.

Lawmen Fall To Friendly Bowling, 3-1

The Lawyers held a 1-0 lead up until the sixth inning when the roof fell in as the Bowlers came up with all their runs in that inning. The victory was the first in seven starts for the Bowlers.

Each team collected six hits but Denny Horger proved to be stronger in the late innings as he picked up the pitching victory for the Bowlers. He fanned eight batters.

Ron Burns started for the Lawmen but was relieved by Tom Stepien who was checked with the defeat.

Six different players singled for the winners while Denny Burke and Burns stroked two hits each for the losers. Bob Woods also had a triple in a losing cause.

Orchard Grove, Oakland Free Methodist and Calvary Methodist finished on the right side of the score in the YMCA - Church League.

D. Barton was the winning hurler in Oakland's 4-3 win over Boyce Methodist. Barton, Kelly and Wagoner had two hits each for the winners. B. Swogger was the loser and Sillince had two safeties for the Boyce nine.

Jerry Cannon flipped a two hitter as Calvary Methodist blanked 2nd Church of Christ, 10-0. Bernie Fickle's three hit led the Calvary nine.

T.S.&T. Nine Takes Edge In Playoff

Jerry Badgley rapped a single to drive in the winning run for T.S.&T. in the fifth inning to edge Roger's Drive-In, 5-4, in the opening game of the Minor League playoff series Monday. The series will be decided in the best two-out-of-three.

Roger's took a 4-0 lead in the second inning but T.S. &T. came storming back with three markers in the third and one each in the fourth and fifth frames.

A big blow for T.S.&T. was a three-run homer by Craig Stevens. Steve Murray was the winning pitcher and only gave up four hits, including a double and single to Joe March, who drive in all of Roger's runs. J. Flannigan was the losing hurler.

Newell went on a rampage by running up a 26-7 margin over Lawrenceville. On the mound for Newell was Richard Bryer while Ron Koping and Dave Anderson hit home runs. Dan Michels homered for Lawrenceville.

After New Cumberland Talks

Waterford Issues Settled, Governor's Aide Declares

CHARLESTON (AP) — All differences, "real or imaginary," between certain Hancock County public officials and Waterford Park have been settled, Curtis B. Trent Jr. said Monday night.

Wright now is Democratic chairman in Hancock County. Trent said that various other county officials and Chairman Eugene M. Frederick of the State Racing Commission were present.

A controversy involving Edwards, Wright and others grew to major proportions about two weeks ago, with Edwards contending at one point that politicians were trying to dictate the horse tracks' operational policy.

Counter-charges by Wright were followed by a demand that the Racing Commission and Barron investigate employment practices at the track to determine whether a state law requiring that 80 per cent of the workers be West Virginians was being observed.

Trent met with Wright, Edwards and others in the governor's office here last Thursday. After almost a day-long session, he expressed hope that the controversy could be resolved.

After returning to Charleston, Trent said that Monday's meeting, "though stormy at times, covered all the problems that confronted the county officials as a direct result of the existence of the track in Hancock; as well as the problems which the racetrack faces in daily operation as a licensees of the state."

Trent said all parties "now have a better understanding of the overall situation and a greater respect for the position of the others."

He added that all parties should be complimented "for their efforts to settle mutual problems." He said such efforts "were culminated in an air of cordiality and complete cooperation."

4th Straight Win Recorded By Billiards

The "golden arm" of Franny Wise hurled the American Billiards team to its fourth straight victory in the Slow Pitch League Monday at Thompson Park with a close 5-4 decision over Klondyke.

In the other contest, the Ridge Runners went on a hitting spree to rout the Finishing Mill, 15-5.

Wise has now won all four decisions for the league-leading Billiards. John Fisher, fleet footed leftfielder for the Billiard "ten," pounded out three hits for the leaders.

Klondyke, trailing 5-1 going into the last of the seventh, gave the Billiards a scare with a four-run uprising which included a home run by Augue Comfort. Butch McElhaney was the leading hitter for Klondyke with two safeties. Jack Canton was the losing hurler.

John Nott banged a home run and Johnson went three-for-three to lead the Ridge Runners to their one-sided decision. The victory was the second in four games for the Runners. Six and M. Schwartz had perfect four-for-four appearances for the Finishing Mill. Chuck Bowers was the winning pitcher while Emerson Ludwig was checked with the loss.

Designers Reversing On Men's Fashions

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Having gone about as far as they could go in one direction, designers of men's clothing have started the other way.

The International Association of Clothing Designers noted during a convention here that suits were narrowed down "to the absolute limit" about five years ago.

Now, a spokesman said, "men's fashions have again started to fill out to proportions that are man-sized without being oversized."

U.S. Incomes, Output Reach Record Highs

WASHINGTON (AP)— Personal incomes of Americans and the nation's industrial production advanced in June to record highs.

But the income gains were only half as great as in the previous month. Industrial production rose so slightly as to remain almost on dead center.

The two key economic indicators—expected to be scrutinized closely by President Kennedy as he considers seeking an economy-spurring tax cut this year—were disclosed Monday.

The Commerce Department said personal incomes rose $700 million in June to a record annual rate of $440.4 billion, an increase of $24 billion over June 1961. But the increase was only about half as big as the one registered in May and was substantially smaller than the advances made earlier this year.

The Federal Reserve Board said that industrial production in June struggled upward to a record 117.8 per cent of the 1957 level compared with 117.5 per cent in May. Some economists expressed surprise that it hadn't declined in the face of the stock market plunge and a strike which cut sharply into auto production.

The increase was less than half that recorded in May, and was so small the board said: "Most measures of business activity changed little in June."

An 8 per cent decrease in auto production, attributable mostly to a strike at the Ford Motor Co., parts plant at Walton Hills, Ohio, which led to an assembly line shutdown of several days.

An 8 per cent decline in iron and steel production following a 14 per cent drop in May.

Scouts Near End Of Camping Trip In New Mexico

LISBON — Twenty-two Boy Scouts and Explorers from troops of the Columbiana Council are completing a great adventure—hiking and camping in the rugged mountains on Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimarron, N. M.

Don Theiss of Chester, the assistant scoutmaster and official scribe for the trip, said they traveled through seven states and had a tour of Chicago during a stopover.

Sunday religious services on the train were conducted by scouts with the God and Country Award. The party had an orientation program with the Philmont ranger before starting the trek into the mountains with burros.

Thief Cleans Out

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — This thief made a clean getaway. Police say evidence indicated a person who broke into a home here and stole a television set and other household goods took a bath before leaving the premises.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

9-Year-Old Wins Calorie Count Game

Once upon a time there was a 9-year-old who tipped the scales at 100 pounds plus. How much plus she asked her mother to keep a secret, for it amounted to an oversize Thanksgiving turkey.

Ida Jean Kain

A half a year later, this same young lady is 27 pounds lighter and proud to tell her weight. She has changed from an inactive fatty, who didn't want to go near the playground, into a lovely young miss who leads the others in active games.

This is a heartwarming success story, so we'll let her mother tell it. . . She wrote in the hopes of helping other overweight youngsters to reduce.

"I thought you would like to know how our daughter just-turned-nine is managing to lose weight. At 118½ pounds, Kay was hungry all the time.

"OUR DOCTOR prescribed an appetite curber to be used only at the start. We bought her a complete calorie chart and Kay began her own game of calorie countdown."

The "game way" to reduce proved to be the challenge needed. It was Kay's own decision whether or not she was entitled to a treat. Calorie arithmetic took the guess work, the nagging and the boredom out of the slim-down program.

Her mother said: "Without the calorie game I don't believe we could have succeeded. Kay takes the responsibility, looking up the amounts herself. The score has been around 1,200 a day. She keeps the score on all calories. By late afternoon she begins adding up to see if she can have desert or some treat she might want. Prior to the calorie countdown game, all reducing efforts had ended in unpleasant words and failure."

About the meals: "We did not buy a lot of dieting extras. The few things we buy especially for her are skim milk, low calorie ice cream, low calorie topping. The rest of her diet is smaller servings of the foods on our menu. It is surprising how delicious a bowl of fruit with its moderate calorie score looks to her and she now chooses fruit in preference to candy or cake," her mother reported.

Calorie counting may be a chore to bored grownups, but to an imaginative youngster it can be an adventure that helps her to get what she wants. This young lady learned which foods are too fattening for her calorie budget and which are the calorie bargains. In this process she changed her food habits. . .and became a winner!

Junior Editors Quiz on EDISON

QUESTION: How many inventions are credited to Thomas Edison?

ANSWER: It may be that Thomas Alva Edison did more than any other human being to make possible our modern world of comforts and conveniences. Not only did he work out useful ideas of his own, but he improved discoveries made by others. An example is the moving picture (upper left). The priniciple had been found out, but Edison invented projectors and other devices which helped to make movies what they are today. Perhaps his most useful invention was the electric light. Nothing but the most patient effort enabled him to find out how to keep the fragile "filament" glowing inside a sealed glass bulb. Think of what this invention has meant to millions and millions of people! The invention which was Edison's personal favorite was the phonograph (we illustrate a modern machine, which though different in appearance from Edison's original one, uses some of the same principles). Edison liked the thought of bringing music and fun to many people. In all, he took out patents on 1,100 inventions. Because he invented the electric light in Menlo Park, N. J., he was often called "the Wizard of Menlo Park."

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Edison acquired his knowledge by asking intelligent questions. Without making yourself a nuisance, you can ask questions, too. Then check the answers, as Edison did.

★ ★ ★

Maureen Tommasi of Old Bridge, N. J., wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What is a quick and simple way of removing oil from the concrete floor of the garage or carport?

A. Here's one often - effective trick: Place several thicknesses of newspapers over the oil spots, letting the papers extend well beyond the spots. Then saturate the papers with clear cold water, against the floor and leave until the papers are completely dry before picking. By then, they should have absorbed all, or most, of the grease.

Q. How can I whiten an old white-enameled refrigerator that has become yellowed with age?

Q. Our upright piano seems to dominate" the small r o o m in which it stands. How can I make the piano blend in better with this room?

A. Change the color of the piano to match the walls, or blend with the wallpaper. Give it two coats of flat paint or enamel, not forgetting to include the stool or bench. Although this seems a rather daring idea, it does wonders for the decorating scheme of a small room.

Q. What is a good rule to follow regarding the use of the proper length of nail for nailing boards firmly?

A. For a firmer hold, it is good to use a nail three times as long as the board being nailed is thick.

Q. How can I remove rust or ink stains from vellum or parchment?

A. By applying a solution of oxalic acid, being sure to absorb the acid immediately afterward with some blotting paper or cloth. Use rubber gloves when working with the oxalic acid, and don't splash any on yourself!

Traffic Change Slated For Trial

Council voted approval Monday night of a street committee recommendation for a 90-day trial of one-way traffic on the section of old 8th St. between Dresden Ave. and Webber Way.

The change was one of two recommended by the street committee, headed by Councilman Kenneth C. Berg. The report was presented by Councilman S. James Welch in Berg's absence. The committee recommended that traffic move west only in the narrow street, which lies to the rear of the former Webb Corp. bottling plant.

The committee also recommended erection of signs reading "Slow, Children Playing," to cut down on speeding traffic in the vicinity of Etruria St. and Wedgewood Ave. Councilman Floyd Murray of the First Ward thanked the committee for its action.

COUNCILMAN Robert W. Sample Jr. told Safety-Service Director Robert Owen more signs are needed to warn traffic of the ending of the one-way stretch of W. 5th St. at Jefferson St. The problem is more acute now because of the heavy influx of eastbound traffic on W. 5th St., resulting from the meeting at Waterford Park Race Track, Sample said. Owen asked Sample to join in the investigation to decide where the new signs should be placed.

Harold Simms, 1001 May St., appeared personally before Council to discuss brick surfacing of an alley in his neighborhood and ask why his request was not granted for similar work on John St.

"When I asked the director about bricking John St., he said and it would cost too much," he said. "Now they're up there paving an alley that is not nearly so heavily traveled."

OWEN replied part of the alley is being bricked to correct a long-standing surface water problem. He said the city is not paving the entire alley, just the area around the intersection.

Massey also said there has been a long - standing surface water problem in the alley.

"There was a brick gutter there on one side but it was washed out," he said. "I talked with the director and it was suggested the best way was to brick part of the alley. We have some brick, but it's used for little jobs like this. I'd like to see John St. paved with brick. If we had the time and material we would do it."

Olaf Chapman, 713 Alton St., also appeared personally to ask about the disposition of several petitions he said were circulated for improvement of streets in the Alton St. area.

HE SAID calcium chloride recently was applied to Alton St. to lay the dust, but it was done the day before a heavy rain "and it all washed into the gutter."

Chapman also asked about the city's plans for a low cost surfacing program for secondary streets.

A limit has been set on the steepness of the grade that can be treated with the low cost material, Massey replied. He said the limit is about 8 per cent—a rise of eight feet in each 100.

"Maybe the contractor would agree to put it on if the people would agree to take a chance on it," he said."

THE FORMER Council had set up a low cost street program, under which the city would have footed half the bill, but when the 1961 income tax was repealed the program was scrapped, he said.

"We're not satisfied with the calcium chloride," Owen told Chapman. "We've already contracted for a test load of a new emulsion that does not have asphalt in it. It should arrive any day."

Homer Franklin of Trentvale St. asked in what order the streets will be treated with the low cost surfacing. Massey said the decision will be up to the director's office, but he assumes the crews will service all the affected streets in one neighborhood, then move on to the next. Welch added that the contractor will be required to complete the work by late September.

JOSEPH BURCHAM of E. 5th St. appeared to reiterate a suggestion that some method be devised so the general public would know if an individual had paid his city income tax. Figures on income and payments cannot be divulged because the tax ordinance makes such information confidential, Willshaw replied.

"I have had complaints that people have not received refunds from their 1961 taxes," Councilman Frank Duffy said. "I checked with the income tax office and they admitted that only about 50 per cent of the refunds have been paid. We appropriated money for the refunds early this year. Why doesn't the city pay its debts?"

Willshaw said he believes the refunds "are being made as rapidly as possible."

The chief also reminded Council that the 1-mill firemen's levy should be placed on the November ballot for renewal. It means $40,000 annually for support of the fire department, the chief said.

Willshaw replied that the question already has been referred to the solicitor's office, where a resolution will be prepared for Council enactment and certification to the Election Board.

Welch read a letter from one of his constituents on McKee St. asking for a new street light, installation of a shade on another light and application of calcium chloride to lay dust. He said all three have been taken care of since the letter was written.

WELCH said he is investigating a new addition developed for diesel fuel which perfumes the exhaust gases. He said he noted use of the perfume on a recent trip to Cleveland, where it is used in buses. He said it might be used in local buses.

Massey brought up the question of recent rate negotiations with the Ohio Valley Gas Co. and said he is in favor of allowing the state Public Utilities Commission to rule on the question, rather than allowing it to remain in Council's hands.

About a month ago, Council informally rejected Ohio Valley's latest offer. Massey said he is in favor of allowing Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper to argue the case before the PUCO. Willshaw said he would want to talk with the solicitor again before making a final decision.

Duffy declared he still is opposed to any rate increase. He said a rate case of the East Ohio Gas Co. now is being argued before the commission.

DUFFY requested installation of a street light in the 1200 block of Erie St. He also reported a "drop" in the street at Bank and Mason Sts. that has damaged the mufflers on several autos.

Willshaw said the finance committee is continuing to work on recommendations for overtime pay and an insurance program for city employes.

Acting on a letter from Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Council ratified reappointment of F. J. Cloran to a six-year term on the Board of Public Utilities.

Council received and filed a letter from the County Election Board asking early certification of tax levies or bond issues for the November general election. Ballot bids will be sought about Aug. 13, according to the letter from Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board.

COUNCIL referred to the Board of Public Utilities a letter from the Water Pollution Board of the State Health Department renewing until July 1964 the city's permit to discharge treated sewage into the Ohio River.

The claims committee was given a bill against the city from William Vitalune of Mulberry St., asking $22.59 for an auto tire he said was ruined on the Mulberry St. railroad crossing July 6.

The finance committee was given a letter signed by the managers and owners of the Columbia, State and American Theaters asking repeal of the city's one per cent admission tax on theater tickets.

DUFFY, chairman of the franchise committee, reported on an investigation of a suggestion that Pleasant Heights buses be rerouted onto W. 9th St. via a ramp that connects Lisbon and W. 9th Sts. He said he found the Shadyside area residents generally opposed to the change "at least for the present."

Massey, who had requested the investigation, said the people with whom he talked were in favor of the change and "that's why I brought it up."

Authority was voted for the finance committee to present the estimated 1963 budget to the county Budget Commission on July 26. It provides for anticipated income of $470,564 in the general fund next year, against $493,287 this year, a decline of $22,723. In 1961, the general fund totaled $470,465 and in 1950 it was $472,154.

Study Scheduled On Old Contracts

A legal check on whether contracts signed in 1954 for engineering and financing of Chester's planned sewage disposal plant still are valid was ordered by Council at a special meeting Monday night.

City Solicitor Ruth Cox Turner was instructed to determine the present status of the contracts with the A. R. Todd Associates of Wheeling, engineers, and the Magnus Co., Cincinnati bonding firm.

Some city officials have indicated dissatisfaction with some engineering aspects of the proposed $450,000 project, for which a federal grant of $105,000 has been allocated.

Last night's motion to have the contracts restudied was made by Councilman Don Chaney, seconded by Councilman Charles Kology. It passed unanimously.

MRS. TURNER, who said she previously had advised the city sanitary board she believes the contracts were not void, reported she will seek to have a ruling for a regular meeting of Council Wednesday night.

The contract between the city and Todd was signed July 6, 1954, by ex-mayor George Scott and Harry Lewis, ex-clerk.

Todd told Council last night he has, since 1954, completed 20 sewage projects and 21 water plant projects and currently has six under construction. He said he has installed more sewer and water plants in West Virginia than any other engineering firm, adding: "We have been working 100 per cent for Chester."

THE CITY has been studying the sewage plant project for a number of years, in line with the Ohio Valley Water Pollution Control project. Chester's applications for federal aid previously had been turned down four times because it lacked sufficient priority or other reasons.

Todd said plans for the project were brought up to date last year, but costs have continued to rise steadily. Kology asked why costs have risen so much, and Todd replied it was due to increased labor rates because his firm pays union scales.

Chaney asked Todd if he has received any pay for the Chester project yet. Todd answered he has about $11,000 involved, but so far has not received a penny. His firm completed a preliminary survey and has revised the engineering plans and cost studies.

MAYOR Harry Abrams asked about obtaining an engineer representative on the sanitary board to succeed the late James Bowwers, and Todd said he would serve temporarily until a permanent replacement could be found.

Kology said: "We need a functioning board, not just someone wanting his name in the paper, but someone who has an interest in the town."

Chaney asked Todd if the first construction bids are rejected, how long would the city have to seek new bids. The engineers said extensions on the grant could be obtained as long as the city evidences progress in the project.

HARRY LAMEIER of the Magnus firm said he had advocated a sewer rate of 100 per cent of the customer's water bill to finance part of the project.

He said if the city had proceeded with construction in 1952 the overall cost would have been much less and would now be half paid for today.

Kology said the sanitary board had set a rate of 110 per cent of the water bill, a rate which he has opposed as too high.

United Local Enters 2 Levies In Fall Vote

United Local School District has filed a resolution with the County Election Board asking a ballot place for renewal of two levies totaling 6 mills for operating expenses for one year.

The levies are for 4 and 2 mills, which will be combined into a single levy for 6 mills, the school district said. It is the third subdivision to file a tax levy with the election board.

The East Liverpool School District filed for renewal of a 3-mill levy for 10 years about two weeks ago and West Township is seeking a 2-mill levy for two years for road improvements.

Petition May Request Hall Sale To Firemen

ROGERS — Petitions to restrict the proposed sale of the village's Community Hall to the volunteer fire department are expected at a meeting of Council tonight at 7 at the hall.

Council is to consider the 1963 budget and hear the ordinance providing for sale of the Community Hall. Council is contemplating construction of a new village hall at the site of the present railroad depot.

A group of residents is seeking to have the present hall sold to the firemen, who have been using the structure.

Strange Instruction

Reservoir Work Will Close Today

The cleaning of Midland's 500,000-gallon 8th St. reservoir, which began Monday, will be finished today, Donald Craik, water department manager, said.

He reported the condition of the reservoir is "very satisfactory." He said the reservoir was drained, the sediment swept out and the paint and condition inspected.

The cleaning of the two million gallon reservoir on the hill above Hillcrest Manor will be scheduled later in the summer.

The Municipal Authority, which operates the water department, will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in water department offices on Railroad Ave. Dr. Zanvel Sigal, chairman, will preside.

Chamber To Ask Reactivation Of City Traffic Unit

Re-establishment of a city traffic planning commission will be recommended to city officials, the Safety Council of the Chamber of Commerce decided at a meeting Monday afternoon in the Chamber offices.

The group also will ask a meeting with Safety - Service Director Robert Owen to discuss traffic changes in the downtown area. The traffic planning commission has been inactive for several months. It last was headed by William B. Cooper.

The council also agreed to participate with various fire departments in the promotion of Fire Prevention Week in October and ordered promotional materials to be used in the campaign.

It also approved participation for the third consecutive year in the school safety patrol recognition program. The program is conducted in the fall by the Columbiana County Motor Club.

The council also instructed E.R. Chandler, secretary-manager, to send a letter to the Independent Garage Owners Association headed by Edison Watson commending the group for sponsoring two auto safety checks. H. Judson English, chairman, presided.

OFF THE RECORD

"We manage to get along on what I earn and Mildred borrows without returning."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What is a quick and simple way of removing oil from the concrete floor of the garage or carport?

A. Here's one often - effective trick: Place several thicknesses of newspapers over the oil spots, letting the papers extend well beyond the spots. Then saturate the papers with clear cold water, against the floor and leave until the papers are completely dry before picking. By then, they should have absorbed all, or most, of the grease.

Q. How can I whiten an old white-enameled refrigerator that has become yellowed with age?

A. Try rubbing it gently with some 600-grit, wet or dry, silicon carbide paper moistened with water.

Q. Our upright piano seems to dominate" the small r o o m in which it stands. How can I make the piano blend in better with this room?

A. Change the color of the piano to match the walls, or blend with the wallpaper. Give it two coats of flat paint or enamel, not forgetting to include the stool or bench. Although this seems a rather daring idea, it does wonders for the decorating scheme of a small room.

Q. What is a good rule to follow regarding the use of the proper length of nail for nailing boards firmly?

A. For a firmer hold, it is good to use a nail three times as long as the board being nailed is thick.

Q. How can I remove rust or ink stains from vellum or parchment?

A. By applying a solution of oxalic acid, being sure to absorb the acid immediately afterward with some blotting paper or cloth. Use rubber gloves when working with the oxalic acid, and don't splash any on yourself!

Junior Editors Quiz on EDISON

QUESTION: How many inventions are credited to Thomas Edison?

ANSWER: It may be that Thomas Alva Edison did more than any other human being to make possible our modern world of comforts and conveniences. Not only did he work out useful ideas of his own, but he improved discoveries made by others. An example is the moving picture (upper left). The priniciple had been found out, but Edison invented projectors and other devices which helped to make movies what they are today. Perhaps his most useful invention was the electric light. Nothing but the most patient effort enabled him to find out how to keep the fragile "filament" glowing inside a sealed glass bulb. Think of what this invention has meant to millions and millions of people! The invention which was Edison's personal favorite was the phonograph (we illustrate a modern machine, which though different in appearance from Edison's original one, uses some of the same principles). Edison liked the thought of bringing music and fun to many people. In all, he took out patents on 1,100 inventions. Because he invented the electric light in Menlo Park, N. J., he was often called "the Wizard of Menlo Park."

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Edison acquired his knowledge by asking intelligent questions. Without making yourself a nuisance, you can ask questions, too. Then check the answers, as Edison did.

Traffic Change Slated For Trial

Council voted approval Monday night of a street committee recommendation for a 90-day trial of one-way traffic on the section of old 8th St. between Dresden Ave. and Webber Way.

The change was one of two recommended by the street committee, headed by Councilman Kenneth C. Berg. The report was presented by Councilman S. James Welch in Berg's absence. The committee recommended that traffic move west only in the narrow street, which lies to the rear of the former Webb Corp. bottling plant.

The committee also recommended erection of signs reading "Slow, Children Playing," to cut down on speeding traffic in the vicinity of Etruria St. and Wedgewood Ave. Councilman Floyd Murray of the First Ward thanked the committee for its action.

COUNCILMAN Robert W. Sample Jr. told Safety-Service Director Robert Owen more signs are needed to warn traffic of the ending of the one-way stretch of W. 5th St. at Jefferson St. The problem is more acute now because of the heavy influx of eastbound traffic on W. 5th St., resulting from the meeting at Waterford Park Race Track, Sample said. Owen asked Sample to join in the investigation to decide where the new signs should be placed.

Harold Simms, 1001 May St., appeared personally before Council to discuss brick surfacing of an alley in his neighborhood and ask why his request was not granted for similar work on John St.

"When I asked the director about bricking John St., he said and it would cost too much," he said. "Now they're up there paving an alley that is not nearly so heavily traveled."

OWEN replied part of the alley is being bricked to correct a long-standing surface water problem. He said the city is not paving the entire alley, just the area around the intersection.

Massey also said there has been a long - standing surface water problem in the alley.

"There was a brick gutter there on one side but it was washed out," he said. "I talked with the director and it was suggested the best way was to brick part of the alley. We have some brick, but it's used for little jobs like this. I'd like to see John St. paved with brick. If we had the time and material we would do it."

Olaf Chapman, 713 Alton St., also appeared personally to ask about the disposition of several petitions he said were circulated for improvement of streets in the Alton St. area.

HE SAID calcium chloride recently was applied to Alton St. to lay the dust, but it was done the day before a heavy rain "and it all washed into the gutter."

Chapman also asked about the city's plans for a low cost surfacing program for secondary streets.

A limit has been set on the steepness of the grade that can be treated with the low cost material, Massey replied. He said the limit is about 8 per cent—a rise of eight feet in each 100.

"Maybe the contractor would agree to put it on if the people would agree to take a chance on it," he said."

Discussing petitions for improvement previously presented to Council, Massey said a check showed the petitions never were presented on the floor.

THE FORMER Council had set up a low cost street program, under which the city would have footed half the bill, but when the 1961 income tax was repealed the program was scrapped, he said.

"We're not satisfied with the calcium chloride," Owen told Chapman. "We've already contracted for a test load of a new emulsion that does not have asphalt in it. It should arrive any day."

Homer Franklin of Trentvale St. asked in what order the streets will be treated with the low cost surfacing. Massey said the decision will be up to the director's office, but he assumes the crews will service all the affected streets in one neighborhood, then move on to the next. Welch added that the contractor will be required to complete the work by late September.

JOSEPH BURCHAM of E. 5th St. appeared to reiterate a suggestion that some method be devised so the general public would know if an individual had paid his city income tax. Figures on income and payments cannot be divulged because the tax ordinance makes such information confidential, Willshaw replied.

"I have had complaints that people have not received refunds from their 1961 taxes," Councilman Frank Duffy said. "I checked with the income tax office and they admitted that only about 50 per cent of the refunds have been paid. We appropriated money for the refunds early this year. Why doesn't the city pay its debts?"

Willshaw said he believes the refunds "are being made as rapidly as possible."

The chief also reminded Council that the 1-mill firemen's levy should be placed on the November ballot for renewal. It means $40,000 annually for support of the fire department, the chief said.

Willshaw replied that the question already has been referred to the solicitor's office, where a resolution will be prepared for Council enactment and certification to the Election Board.

Welch read a letter from one of his constituents on McKee St. asking for a new street light, installation of a shade on another light and application of calcium chloride to lay dust. He said all three have been taken care of since the letter was written.

WELCH said he is investigating a new addition developed for diesel fuel which perfumes the exhaust gases. He said he noted use of the perfume on a recent trip to Cleveland, where it is used in buses. He said it might be used in local buses.

Massey brought up the question of recent rate negotiations with the Ohio Valley Gas Co. and said he is in favor of allowing the state Public Utilities Commission to rule on the question, rather than allowing it to remain in Council's hands.

About a month ago, Council informally rejected Ohio Valley's latest offer. Massey said he is in favor of allowing Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper to argue the case before the PUCO. Willshaw said he would want to talk with the solicitor again before making a final decision.

Duffy declared he still is opposed to any rate increase. He said a rate case of the East Ohio Gas Co. now is being argued before the commission.

DUFFY requested installation of a street light in the 1200 block of Erie St. He also reported a "drop" in the street at Bank and Mason Sts. that has damaged the mufflers on several autos.

Willshaw said the finance committee is continuing to work on recommendations for overtime pay and an insurance program for city employes.

Acting on a letter from Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Council ratified reappointment of F. J. Cloran to a six-year term on the Board of Public Utilities.

Council received and filed a letter from the County Election Board asking early certification of tax levies or bond issues for the November general election. Ballot bids will be sought about Aug. 13, according to the letter from Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board.

COUNCIL referred to the Board of Public Utilities a letter from the Water Pollution Board of the State Health Department renewing until July 1964 the city's permit to discharge treated sewage into the Ohio River.

The claims committee was given a bill against the city from William Vitalune of Mulberry St., asking $22.59 for an auto tire he said was ruined on the Mulberry St. railroad crossing July 6.

The finance committee was given a letter signed by the managers and owners of the Columbia, State and American Theaters asking repeal of the city's one per cent admission tax on theater tickets.

DUFFY, chairman of the franchise committee, reported on an investigation of a suggestion that Pleasant Heights buses be rerouted onto W. 9th St. via a ramp that connects Lisbon and W. 9th Sts. He said he found the Shadyside area residents generally opposed to the change "at least for the present."

Massey, who had requested the investigation, said the people with whom he talked were in favor of the change and "that's why I brought it up."

Authority was voted for the finance committee to present the estimated 1963 budget to the county Budget Commission on July 26. It provides for anticipated income of $470,564 in the general fund next year, against $493,287 this year, a decline of $22,723. In 1961, the general fund totaled $470,465 and in 1950 it was $472,154.

By Chester Council

Study Scheduled On Old Contracts

A legal check on whether contracts signed in 1954 for engineering and financing of Chester's planned sewage disposal plant still are valid was ordered by Council at a special meeting Monday night.

City Solicitor Ruth Cox Turner was instructed to determine the present status of the contracts with the A. R. Todd Associates of Wheeling, engineers, and the Magnus Co., Cincinnati bonding firm.

Some city officials have indicated dissatisfaction with some engineering aspects of the proposed $450,000 project, for which a federal grant of $105,000 has been allocated.

Last night's motion to have the contracts restudied was made by Councilman Don Chaney, seconded by Councilman Charles Kology. It passed unanimously.

MRS. TURNER, who said she previously had advised the city sanitary board she believes the contracts were not void, reported she will seek to have a ruling for a regular meeting of Council Wednesday night.

The contract between the city and Todd was signed July 6, 1954, by ex-mayor George Scott and Harry Lewis, ex-clerk.

Todd told Council last night he has, since 1954, completed 20 sewage projects and 21 water plant projects and currently has six under construction. He said he has installed more sewer and water plants in West Virginia than any other engineering firm, adding: "We have been working 100 per cent for Chester."

THE CITY has been studying the sewage plant project for a number of years, in line with the Ohio Valley Water Pollution Control project. Chester's applications for federal aid previously had been turned down four times because it lacked sufficient priority or other reasons.

Todd said plans for the project were brought up to date last year, but costs have continued to rise steadily. Kology asked why costs have risen so much, and Todd replied it was due to increased labor rates because his firm pays union scales.

Chaney asked Todd if he has received any pay for the Chester project yet. Todd answered he has about $11,000 involved, but so far has not received a penny. His firm completed a preliminary survey and has revised the engineering plans and cost studies.

MAYOR Harry Abrams asked about obtaining an engineer representative on the sanitary board to succeed the late James Bowers, and Todd said he would serve temporarily until a permanent replacement could be found.

Kology said: "We need a functioning board, not just someone wanting his name in the paper, but someone who has an interest in the town."

Chaney asked Todd if the first construction bids are rejected, how long would the city have to seek new bids. The engineers said extensions on the grant could be obtained as long as the city evidences progress in the project.

HARRY LAMEIER of the Magnus firm said he had advocated a sewer rate of 100 per cent of the customer's water bill to finance part of the project.

He said if the city had proceeded with construction in 1952 the overall cost would have been much less and would now be half paid for today.

Kology said the sanitary board had set a rate of 110 per cent of the water bill, a rate which he has opposed as too high.

Lameier said his firm has received no money to date from the project.

United Local Enters 2 Levies In Fall Vote

United Local School District has filed a resolution with the County Election Board asking a ballot place for renewal of two levies totaling 6 mills for operating expenses for one year.

The levies are for 4 and 2 mills, which will be combined into a single levy for 6 mills, the school district said. It is the third subdivision to file a tax levy with the election board.

The East Liverpool School District filed for renewal of a 3-mill levy for 10 years about two weeks ago and West Township is seeking a 2-mill levy for two years for road improvements.

Petition May Request Hall Sale To Firemen

ROGERS — Petitions to restrict the proposed sale of the village's Community Hall to the volunteer fire department are expected at a meeting of Council tonight at 7 at the hall.

Council is to consider the 1963 budget and hear the ordinance providing for sale of the Community Hall. Council is contemplating construction of a new village hall at the site of the present railroad depot.

A group of residents is seeking to have the present hall sold to the firemen, who have been using the structure.

Strange Instruction

"Please clean and resquaw."

Grange Waits Guest Group

The traveling project for 1962 will be presented by Mile Branch Grange at a meeting of the Clarkson Grange Thursday night at 8:30 at the Clarkson Grange Hall.

Robert Ringler of Alliance R. D., Milebranch lecturer, will be in charge. Refreshments will be served. The Clarkson Grange will present the project at a meeting of the Guilford Grange Saturday night with Mrs. Dorothy Davis, lecturer, in charge.

Open house was held by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gibson Sunday in observance of their 25th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Gibson, the former Otis Lowery, and Gibson were married July 17, 1937, by the Rev. Raymond Touvell, pastor of the Clarkson Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Raymond Watson is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marks of Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and son visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Coolidge of Canton and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith and Earl Smith of Alliance.

Mrs. Lulu Huffman of Lakewood, Calif., has concluded a three-week visit with relatives here.

Reservoir Work Will Close Today

The cleaning of Midland's 500,000-gallon 8th St. reservoir, which began Monday, will be finished today, Donald Craik, water department manager, said.

He reported the condition of the reservoir is "very satisfactory." He said the reservoir was drained, the sediment swept out and the paint and condition inspected.

The cleaning of the two million gallon reservoir on the hill above Hillcrest Manor will be scheduled later in the summer.

The Municipal Authority, which operates the water department, will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in water department offices on Railroad Ave. Dr. Zanvel Sigal, chairman, will preside.

Chamber To Ask Reactivation Of City Traffic Unit

Re-establishment of a city traffic planning commission will be recommended to city officials, the Safety Council of the Chamber of Commerce decided at a meeting Monday afternoon in the Chamber offices.

The group also will ask a meeting with Safety - Service Director Robert Owen to discuss traffic changes in the downtown area. The traffic planning commission has been inactive for several months. It last was headed by William B. Cooper.

The council also agreed to participate with various fire departments in the promotion of Fire Prevention Week in October and ordered promotional materials to be used in the campaign.

It also approved participation for the third consecutive year in the school safety patrol recognition program. The program is conducted in the fall by the Columbiana County Motor Club.

The council also instructed E.R. Chandler, secretary-manager, to send a letter to the Independent Garage Owners Association headed by Edison Watson commending the group for sponsoring two auto safety checks. H. Judson English, chairman, presided.
